To Merchants, Captains, Traders and others.

WE, your petitioners, who were ever fond of industry in others, would wish to be encouraged ourselves, by a generous public, which will always prevent a more mean way of begging For a few years past we have met with many heavy losses and disappointments in trade; and had we not, by a constant application to our trade and business, put our shoulders to the wheel, before we called on Hercules, like too many, we should have stuck in the mire of insolvency. We mean no reflection on those who have been unfortunate: No—we mean we are in want of money to pay off our just debts and have put our shoulders to the wheel—and now call on a generous public for help, having on hand
A large and general assortment of
ANCHORS AND CORDAGE,
