[illegible] him at 10 O'Clock this Morning. They waited [illegible] him accordingly, and he delivered them the Original in his own Hand-Writing of which the following is a Copy.

"Saturday Morning"

"Gentlemen, I take the Liberty of reading for you this Morning and hope the Motives of my so doing, will not be disagreeable. Your polite Behaviour to me and the Indulgence you have regard to me, which argues your good Opinion of my Part and present Conduct, secures the best Return I can make); I see that your personal Safety and future Repose rest on your Constituents and involved in my impartial Trial Decision, and not disguising that Evidence). Therefore what you could not, by Expostulation however respectful, or your Representation of probably a more disagreeable Proceeding, obtain from me, my Conscience not to have the Power like the Convention not, I voluntarily now give you, as you Lord me Thanks are justly entitled you to it."

Mr. Allen Dugan was ordered Messenger to the Council.
