

Form of oath.

"In the presence of Almighty God you solemnly promise and declare that you will well and faithfully perform the office of in election precinct to the best of your ability and in all things comply with the provisions of the primary election law."

In addition he shall administer to the judges designated as ballot judges the following oath:

Judges' oath.

"In the presence of Almighty God you solemnly promise and declare that you will not attempt to ascertain save in cases and in the manner in which you are authorized by law to do, for what candidate or candidates any person shall vote or have voted, or how any person shall vote or has voted on any question which may be or may have been submitted at the primary election, and if such knowledge shall be acquired by you in the performance of your duty, you will not, directly or indirectly, by word or act, divulge or reveal the same, or aid in doing so, save when you may be required to do so by law in some legal proceeding; and you will in all things faithfully execute the duties of your office of ballot judge according to the best of your knowledge without favor or partiality." And one of said judges shall in turn administer the oath required to be taken by the judges of election to the clerks of election; said oath to be in writing, to be signed by each of said judges and clerks and to be returned to the Supervisors of Elections on the Tuesday following said primary election by the return judge of each precinct.

Judge to administer oath to clerk.

Pay for services of judges and clerks.

SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That the compensation of each of said judges and clerks shall be two dollars, and the return judges shall each have an additional three dollars for the day upon which he makes his return to the Supervisors of Elections as above stated, and three dollars for the day upon which he receives the registry books, etc., and the said Supervisors of Elections shall, in addition to the compensation they now receive, receive the further sum of one hundred dollars each for the year 1905, and a like sum thereafter for the extra duties required of them under the provisions of this Act.

Polling place to be fitted up.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That the said Supervisors of Elections shall cause each polling place to be suitably provided with a sufficient number of voting shelves or compartments at or in which voters may conveniently mark their ballots, so that in marking thereof they may not be in sight, but be screened from the observation of others, and a guard rail shall be so constructed and placed so that only such persons as are