BOONSBOROUGH.

1865, c. 97 recites that the burgess and commissioners of Boonsborough, in Washington county, have, by inadvertence, neglected to take the oath of allegiance, and to subscribe their names thereto, as required to be done by article first, section seven of the constitution of 1864, thereby rendering their acts illegal and of no effect; therefore, it enacts that the acts of said burgess and commissioners are made legal and binding, as if said oath of allegiance had been taken and been subscribed to by the said burgess and commissioners, according to the requirements of said constitution, so soon as they shall have taken and subscribed to said oath of allegiance before a justice of the peace, or some other person legally qualified to administer the same: and said act further enacts:

1865, c. 67
 Elections, how to be held.

PROVISOS.

51. Any future elections for said corporation officers shall be held legal, where a notice of ten days shall have been given, whether the said election shall be for the burgess, assistant burgess and commissioners, as required to be made annually by the by-laws of said corporation, or to fill vacancies occasioned by death, resignation, or any other cause; provided, the term for which officers so elected to fill vacancies shall expire on the day after the one fixed for holding of annual elections by the by-laws of said corporation; and, provided also, where the burgess and commissioners, or the person authorized by them to give notice of said election, neglect or refuse to give said notice, it shall be held to be a legal notice for such elections, if given by a justice of the peace residing in said corporation.

In force from March 10, 1865.
