

1 anxious to have your comments or spend a great deal of 2 time this evening on matters of mere style and phraseology.
3 I do not mean to suggest that no consideration should be 4 given to words, because it may be that the words that 5 you want to discuss and mention have a very substantive 6 effect, and it is not merely a matter of style, but we 7 will not spend time this evening on matters of grammar
8 and punctuation.

9 With those introductory remarks, I turn the 10 meeting over to Mr. Ridgely Melvin, who is Chairman of 11 the Committee.

12 THE CHAIRMAN: I think most of you have a copy
13 of what is called Tentative Draft Number 4, which has been 14 handed to and which has been replaced by tentative draft, 15 second draft of the Committee on Judiciary Department. If 16 there is no one who does not have a copy of that, we 17 have extra ones up here at the desk. The date of the Re-
18 port is July 8, 1966.

19 As Vernon has said, the Commission has not 20 acted on this Second Report, and as a matter of fact, the 21 sub-committee itself has not formally adopted this Second
