

1 THE CHAIRMAN: Because we didn't feel it was 2 necessary.

3 JUDGE FAIRBANKS: In other words, you think as 4 otherwise provided by law is sufficient?

5 THE CHAIRMAN: Yes.

6 MR. RODONSKY: And because the Supreme Court
7 of Appeals got added to the list, too. It got added
8 to the list of possible legislative repository of 9 original jurisdiction. You end up with the whole system.

10 THE CHAIRMAN: Here is another reason, too,
11 Judge: There are and will be, I am sure, situations in 12 which the People's Court and the Circuit Court will have 13 concurrent jurisdiction, concurrent original jurisdiction
14 in certain cases.

15 JUDGE FAIRBANKS: They will in civil jurisdic-
16 tion, but would that be true in criminal or traffic?

17 THE CHAIRMAN: Possibly.

18 MR. REDDEN: My comment, Mr. Chairman, or my 19 suggestion to you, Mr. Chairman, is that in view of the 20 last sentence in the comment on the top of Page 5, refer-21 ence to what could happen to the jurisdiction of the