

1 That is what we are trying to do, improve the present
2 condition.

3 MR. ENEY: Judge Proctor, this suggestion
4 intrigues me, if I may go back to it. You would say in 5 Section 2 (a), I take it, something to the effect that 6 the Supreme Court of Appeals shall have appellate juris-
7 diction and such other jurisdiction as may be provided
8 by law and shall be the Supreme Court in the judicial 9 structure of the State or something like that?

10 JUDGE PROCTOR: Final court.

11 MR. ENEY: We can't say that because the 12 intermediate court may be final in a given case, or the 13 Circuit Court may be.

14 JUDGE PROCTOR: Your thought in general is 15 what I have in mind.

16 MR. ENEY: You would merely characterize it
17 as the top of the structure?

18 JUDGE PROCTOR: The top court so the Legislature
19 can't decide they like the five members of the Appellate 20 Court and they will make them the highest.

21 JUDGE BRUNE: You can do it by inserting the
