

1 making uniform the lower court structure.

2 THE CHAIRMAN: Do you understand what Larry
3 said about the concurrent jurisdiction?

4 JUDGE FAIRBANKS: Yes, but maybe I am not
5 making myself clear. In the way it is stated here, 6 jurisdiction vested exclusively in the People's Court shall 7 be uniform, the implication being concurrent jurisdiction
8 is not going to be uniform.

9 MR. RODONSKY: The implication is that is a 10 legislative choice.

11 JUDGE FAIRBANKS: All they refer to is a mone-
12 tary matter. Why don't you simply say jurisdiction vested
13 in the People's Court should be uniform in all districts
14 or even simpler yet, People's Court shall have original
15 jurisdiction in such cases as provided by law, which juris-
16 diction shall be uniform.

17 MR. RODONSKY: It is a question of who makes 18 the judgment. In other words, your language requires
19 uniformity across the board, by constitution. This leaves
20 the judgment as to whether concurrent jurisdiction can 21 vary between districts with the Legislature.
