

1 administrative judge. You are picking out some judge and 2 giving him that job to do, apparently with some feeling
3 that he won't like it for long, so you don't want to scare
4 him too bad with a fixed term of office. It seems to 5 me that ought to be a career type of job, and from what 6 the comment states, I gather that the Committee believes 7 that the work of the administrative judge, whether he 8 has that title or whether he is called Chief Judge of 9 the Circuit Court, that is going to be a fulltime job.
10 If that is so, why in the world not have a specialist
11 and call him exactly what his actual work requires him
12 to be, administrative judge?

13 THE CHAIRMAN: Would he be a judge who had been 14 selected and/or appointed?

15 JUDGE BRUNE: I would suggest that he be ap-16 pointed in precisely the same manner as the judge of an 17 Appellate Court is appointed: Recommended by the Appel-
18 late Nominating Committee. Now, there are two possible
19 questions as to the ways of handling the matter. One
20 is, you can have him serve at the pleasure of the Chief 21 Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals. The other is
