

Subsection (a)(2) of this section is new language added to provide a convenient cross-reference to provisions that authorize the early administration of the "fundamentals" examination.

Subsection (b) of this section is new language derived without substantive change from the first sentence of former Art. 56, § 337(a).

Subsection (c) of this section is standard language added to conform to the practice of the Board and to similar provisions elsewhere in this article. It provides an element of fundamental fairness by requiring the Board to give qualified applicants notice before the administration of examinations.

Subsection (d)(1) of this section is new language added to restate the types of examinations that the Board administers, as provided in the various alternative licensing requirements under § 15-305 of this subtitle.

Subsection (d)(2) of this section is new language substituted for former Art. 56, § 335(d)(1)(ii), which required examinations in "the fundamentals of property line surveying" and in "principles and practice of property line surveying". Under current practice, the Board complies with the requirement for examination in the "fundamentals of property line surveying" by administering the same National Council of Engineering Examiners fundamentals examination to applicants both for a license to practice property line surveying and for a license to practice land surveying. Also under current practice, the Board complies with the requirement for examination in the "principles and practice of property line surveying" by administering the first part of the "principles and practice" examination that the Board gives to applicants for a license to practice land surveying.

Subsection (e) of this section is new language derived without substantive change from former Art. 56, § 337(c) and restated in language comparable to that used throughout this article for similar provisions.

In subsection (b) of this section, the word "periodically" is added for clarity and conformity to the practice of the Board.

Former Art. 56, § 337(b), which precluded taking the principles and practice of land surveying examination until satisfying all other license requirements, is