DAR Opens Constitution Week At Meeting Monday

Conococheague Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The chapter met on Monday evening in the lovely home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward L. Vail, 1079 Pennsylvania Avenue.

The meeting gave the keynote for the opening of Constitution Week, September 17-23. The observance marks the 168th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States of Receiving guests with the hostess were Mrs. Samuel L. Green-walt, Mrs. Alcesta Owen and Mrs. Lois Rowland.

Fololwing the theme for the 1955-56 year's program, "Protect America's Future Through Patriotic Education," and the current theme of Constitution Week, "This Nation Under God," Mrs. Vail, chapter regent, presented Maryland's Constitution Week activities which have been arsettines when have been a ranged by the regents of the 32 state D. A. R. chapters. Each member of the D.A.R. has been asked to display the American flag this week. Copies of the official proclamation, pamphiets of the United States Constitution, and cards of the Pledge of Allegiance and the Amercian's Creed were distributed to many civic agencies.

SUCCESSFUL CAREERS. It is possible to succeed in a career on ability alone, but goals are gained with less resistance when an attractive personality teams with ability. Top careerists prove ability. Top careerists prove that rule: invariably, they are winning women.

Consequently, the career-minded take giant steps forward when they develop their work-day personalities. Vital traits to strive for are: a forthright manner, neither coquettish nor brusque; a tactful attitude to ideas or directions on both the giving and receiving ends: the same senseries of those in lower echelons as in higher; a sense of humor—the kind that makes molehills out of mountains.
