and the late supture, and the establishment of a new Extrast of a letter from London, received by the July dresses from both houses to the king and the lord lieu. Dniester, and including the cession of the town of D'Ackerman.

Bessarabia, to be created principalities, free and inde- ject of parliamentary discussion of in- operate in such measures as the honour of his crown, pendent of both empires, in such a manner that, in terest will doubtless induce the monied men in Eng- the effential rights of all his subjects, and the united future, they shall serve as a barrier to both—and thus, land to invest their property in the funds of the United and mutual interests of the empire may demand." by removing an adjacent neighbourhood, prevent those divisions and quarrels which have hitherto been the lole. terest will be paid. Intelligent and unprejudiced menfource of troubling their tranquillity.

Art. 3. The arrangement of these two points will sufficiently provide for the third, which is, that of making a solid, stable and lasting peace.

As to Sweden, the empress demands nothing but the re-establishment of the ancient treaties of Neustadt and d'Abo, with an entire oblivion of what has passed.

The empreis appeals to the impartial, whether she does not, in the above, display her generosity and love of peace, by offering to one party a restitution of the greatest part of her conquests, reserving only a little for expences; and to the other the has not only facrificed a resentment for unprovoked and unheard of insults, without requiring any more than what is for the repose and welfare of Sweden.

It is therefore defired, that the above may be made known, to remove the false impressions which the public papers, either through ignorance or malice, have endeavoured to make; and to assure the world that her Imperial majesty, fixed in an opinion of her equity and impartiality, will not relax in the cares which animate her to conclude a speedy peace by every means, and on every condition compatible with her dignity, honour, and the essential interests of her empire.

September 7.

Signed,

C. J. D'OSTERMAN.

Last Saturday, captain Ropes arrived here from Portau-Prince, which he left on the 13th of July, at which time the commotions in that island appeared to be subsiding. But on his passage captain Ropes spoke with captain Bradbury of Portland, who sailed three days after him, and informed him, that when he sailed the people were affembling in arms at Leogane and the other out ports, apparently with a design of attacking Port-au-Prince, the principal inhabitants of which were adherents to the old government, and had taken up arms to act in conjunction with the standing troops in support of it. The town being thus in possession of the anti-revolutionists, great numbers of families in the popular interest had quitted it; but, in consequence of the expected attack, the troops took possession of the Isle of Wight. When she was near the banks of Newdifferent passes, to prevent any further migrations: and three armed brigs anchored before the harbour, to co-operate with the troops. Such were the hostile appearances then, the event of which we have not

The immediate cause of these commotions was the convening of an assembly at St. Marks, to legislate for the island. This assembly had dispersed, in consequence of the disturbances; and the leading members, it was supposed, had gone on-board a 74 gun ship and frigate, and sailed for France, to make a representation to the national affembly.—The captain of the 74 gun ship being unfavourable to the popular cause, he had been before sent on shore at Port-au-Prince, and the first lieutenant took the command.

NEW-YORK, September 13.

Extract of a letter from Savanna-la-Mar, July 26. " The fnow Columbus, captain Mason, which was to nave sailed to-day, for Leith, had the terrible misfortune to catch fire on Saturday night, and burnt to the water's edge. The cargo is entirely consumed. The people had barely time to get into the boats and fave their lives; some of them are much scorched. Captain Baker saved his papers by the carpenter's venturing in at the cabin windows for them.

"The fire was occasioned by the sailors dividing some rum; and through their carelessness a candle sell upon what was spilled, which taking fire, communicated to the hold."

A writer in a late London newspaper, thus observes: -" The scale of liberty in France will probably rise higher than our own. The French have already accomplished objects of extreme importance, which will materially elevate them in the eye of foreign powers. We hope they will in time furmount the barriers of local destiny, and every other obstacle which imposes the progress of national prosperity: Their present situa- that the dispute between Great-Britain and Spain, tion reminds us of that ancient husbandman, mention- which has caused such formidable armaments, and kept ed by Tully in his Dialogue on Old Age, who on being expectation so long upon the stretch, is at length amiasked, " for whom, at his years, he could be planting an cably settled, by negotiation. This letter is dated the oak," : eplied with generous magnanimity, " for posterity and the immortal Gods."

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, dated September 6. "Strange as it may feem, the following is related here for a fact .- A gentleman who resides in Derby (seven miles from this place) has a dog, who every morning goes down to the river, and scarcely ever fails of bringing home with him a large cathih. Some time ago, the owner made a journey to Pittsburg, about 320 miles distant, in company with the dog. yet, good reason (not to say positive proof) to induce ing too long at Pittsburg, the dog separated from his taken place. What person, too, in his sober senses master, and came home alone, to the great distress of would yield any credit to the assertions of a man that the family, who from this circumstance imagined he has seen a man, that has heard of another man that must have been killed, or at least met with some fatal was told by a third man, who had heard it from some accident. The master's fortunate arrival, however, a other man, that had it from good authority, that some few days after, relieved them from their anxiety, and left them to admire the fagacity of a dog who has not only the surprising faculty of catching fish, but could cents?—And yet, upon such absurd reports as these find his way alone 320 miles through a strange country without the least knowledge of geography, or any other of the arts or sciences commonly taught in our actually in contemplation with the ministry, and will wessels a Nootka Sound, and assuring his majerty what Art. 2. The provinces of Moldavia, Wallachia and soon become both a England and Ireland a serious ob. they will stand and fall with Great-Britain, and co. States of America, where we understand a high inin this country, consider the security under your new government as perfectly good, and the situation of the funds of America becomes daily more known in Europe; we are anxiously waiting to know the terms upon which congress will fund the debt of the United

CHAMBERSBURG, September 2.

Several persons lately from the Ohio country inform, that great preparations were making, by the immediate direction of governor St. Clair, for a formidable expedition into the Indian country. The forces, it is faid, will confift of 500 militia from the frontier counties of this state, and 1000 from Kentucky, to be supported by a detachment of continental troops—the whole to rendezvous about ten miles below Whelen some time in the beginning of this month. Whether this force is designed to cover some negotiation with the Indians on that quarter, or to commence hostilities against them, is not yet certainly known; but the latter is expected, and hoped for by the inhabitants of the Western wa-

PHILADELPHIA, September 15. Extract of a letter from Curracoa, dated August 14.

"A very violent gale of wind happened here on the night of the 11th instant. It began at 12 o'clock and continued till about 8 o'clock the next day, commencing with great violence at N. E. but suddenly shifting to S. E. did considerable damage, chiesly to the buildings near the water, on the fouth fide of the Island; many of them were undermined by the sea, and fell-a new fort, east of the town, is nearly destroyed. Four vessels were blown from their moorings; three, however, received but little damage, the other I think will be loft.

REMARKABLE PHENOMENON, Observed by captain Moulton, of the Earl of Efingham, who arrived at London in June last, from Jumaica. The above ship made her passage in 48 days off the foundland, a man at the topmast head, on the look-out, was uncommonly surprised, at sun-rising, and called out, A very large sail indeed! a large sail!

All hands now came upon deck, and the rays of the sun beginning to dissipate, or, as it were, to lift up the curtain of the fog, they espied the supposed sail, about a mile distant from the Earl of Essingham.

Its appearance was that of a mountainous field or plain, covered with snow, and the rays of the sun darting upon it under the fog, gave it a singularly picturesque appearance. Their opinions were divided on what it might be, when a clear horizon succeeding, enabled them to form a decisive judgment. But, how great was their astonishment, when, on a nearer view, instead of a large ship, they discovered it to be a vast field of tremendous mountains of ice-a most unexpected phænomenon in that latitude.

They congratulated each other on their narrow efcape from destruction; for had they fallen in with it in the night, under a leading wind, under which they were sailing, their sate would have been more certain .

than that which befel the Guardian.

The possibility of the Guardian's meeting with the large fields of ice, after so few days failing from the Cape, has been much doubted; but if the credibility due to the testimony of lieutenant Riou, as well as that of the gentlemen arrived in England, is not a convincing proof of the fact, the circumstance above mentioned is sufficient to evince it.

The following is copied from the Salem Gazette of the 7th instant, received by yesterday's mail:

"TRANQUILLITY.

"On Sunday the brig Leopard, captain Woodbury, arrived here in 42 days from Bilboa; and on the. authority of a letter from Mr. Gardoque to a merchant in this town, received by her, we are enabled to fay, 22d of July."

Benjamin Bourne, Esquire, of Providence, by large majority of votes is chosen representative to congress, for Rhode-Island district.

Extract of a letter from Boston, September 6.

The various contradictory accounts of war still continue to distract us. We have lately had more positive affertions than one, that war is actually declared between Great-Britain and Spain. But we have, as By some accident, or possibly being weary of remain- us to suspend our belief that any such declaration has British frigates had run the gauntlope through a fleet of Spanish men of war, cruizing off Cape St. Vina great part of our present news, relative to war, is

The London Gazette of July 10, contains the lord lieutenant's speech to the Irish parliament, and ad-tenant, thanking them for the communication made to " A reduction of the rate of interest upon money is them from the throne, respecting the capture of the > Extract of a letter from a person in London, to a corres. pondent in Carclina.

"A very alarming circumstance has taken place in London:—A man has wounded in the streets several ladies and other women; some are said to be dead of their wounds. He has a dirk in a stick with which he cuts them in the back and other parts of the body; this is done in open day-light and even when foot-mer have been following their mistresses. A number of gentlemen have subscribed for the taking of him; and a Mr. Angerstein has advertised 1001. for apprehend. ing him. Several persons who answered the description in dress have been apprehended and carried before the niagistrates, and the ladies who have been hun have attended, but as yet he is not found. He is ad! vertised by the name of the monster. It is said he is as fleet as a deer. I am of opinion there are a great number of them, as the muchief is done in different parts of London. This morning we had an account that yesterday in Salisbury court he presented a nose. gay to a lady to smell to, and that in it there was a sharp knife, with which he cut her face in a shocking manner."

WINCHESTER, August 28.

Advices from the westward, received since our last, mention, that four boats lately going down the Ohio, were decoved on shore by two white men, the crews of which, with the boats, were unfortunately taken by a body of 130 Indians, who were laying in ambush waiting their landing. One of the captives, we are informed; has since made his escape. The emigrators of that country cannot be too cautious of landing, or going near the banks of the river, as many have before suffered by such imprudent conduct.

ANNAPOLIS, September 23.

The president of the United States has been pleased to appoint Robert Morris judge for the district of New. Jersey, in the place of the honourable David Brearly, deceased.

At a meeting of the deputies from a number of the counties in this state, for the purpose of fixing on proper characters to recommend to the people as. their representatives in congress, at the approaching election, the following resolution and address were agreed to:

RESOLVED, That it is the opinion of this meeting that, under our present circumstances, unanimity and a spirit of mutual concession are the only means of securing the great object of our deputation, and that, governed by these considerations, the following ticket be earnestly recommended to the patronage and warm support of the people of this state, as containing the most proper characters which could be obtained out of the list of candidates offered to our choice, to represent them in congress:

For the 1st Dist. Michael Jenifer Stone,

James Tilghman, of James, Benjamin Contee, George Gale, Samuel Sterett, Daniel Carroll, 6th Do.

To the PEOPLE of MARYLAND.

GENTLEMEN,

STRONGLY impressed with the necessity of extra tion and unanimity at the enfuing election, we be leave, under the powers delegated to us by a respectable part of the people of this state, to recommend to your confideration and attention the result of our deliberations. We are well aware, that a diversity of sentiment has prevailed in the several counties and districts with respect to the most proper characters to represent you in congress, and we conceive the present deputation was made to endeavour, if possible, to reconcile their different opinions, and, by bringing them in concert, to give to every part of the state its just weight in the scale offederal election. With this object in view, we most earnestly recommend that all per:onal partialities and prejudices may, on this occasion, yield to your true interests; and that the same temper of moderation, the same sentiment of mutual concession, which governed us in discussing the respective merits of your icveral candidates, may prevail with you in judging of, and deciding on, the ticket, which we now prefume to bring forward for your approbation.

In a ticket thus formed, it is not to be expected that every character recommended should be the choice of each particular county or district; but those who object should have the candour to reslect, that, to answer the great end in view, the facrifice of opinion should be mutual, and that the favourise character of one county or district, may not be the choice of the others. Upon the whole, we cannot but be of opinion, that the ticket proposed is the best, that, under all circumitances, could be formed out of those characters who offer themselves as candidates at the next election, and we fincerely hope that every proper exertion will be made to ensure its success.

Signed by order and on behalf of the meeting, Wm. SMALLWOOD, Prendent.

RESOLVED, That the several Printers in this state be requelted to publish, in their respective papers, the above resolution and address.

SHEF

Ey virtue of a writ o the general court, SALE, for ready of WALTER M'P Pomonkey warehou October next, betv o'clock,

TWENT E G

Confisting of men, dren. Taken in a debt due fi to the S

Sept. 16, 1790.

TO On the 25th of Octob day, at the late dwe BRYAN, deceased, OUNDRY HOR SHEEP, househo on UTENSILS.

All persons indebted end on the faid day an having claims are requ proved, for settlement, o settle the business as ale will be for cash on LYDIA NATHA

* The HOUSE

By virtue of a deed of

Maryl

kiston Causin, of C SOLD, to the high December next-HIRTY-NINE 1 children, among penters and house servan containing about 918 ac towmack, at the mouth Charles county. The la one containing about 5 acres :-- On the first is house, with every other tobacco houses, corn ho well paled in, and a c peach, and other fruit-tr ling house for an overseer bacco house, corn house house and shop. This l wheat and grass, pleasant of Port-Tobacco, in a go command a very extensiv ver, Port-Tobacco creek Virginia, as well as Mary be given, paying the inte security must also be gi lien on the real property overseer's house, and cont of the land may be seen !

way, in Prince-George's A deed will be immed and possession given. ALEX The Subscriber hath re portations fro A very general affor Properly chosen for the he will sell at the m CASH or Good B

N. B. He also again to those who have been long dealings, by bond, note o settle their respective bala of fuits, or an affignmen must inevitably happen, u this request.

BOOT & SI D ESPECTFULLY in and his friends in pa from Church-street to Tab low Mr. William Cooke's, finess in all its various bran fashionable manner, and has supplied himself with t in that branch, and is dete ness with the greatest pu hopes, by his attention, to who please to favour him v

A LL persons having j requested to bring them a settlement may take pla him are defired to make particular of the CLIZA GASS