Philadelphia, April 29, 1794. Viki Con after the receipt of your letter of the 10th ultimo, I took more than one opportunity of The reverend Leonard Neale, HE said Leonard mentioning to you verbally, that the government of the United States was sincere and constant in its determination to fuluil its assurances concerning the districts occupied by the British troops, and the acts of violence said to be committed under the authority of the state of Vermont on the perfons and property of Britith subjects residing under the protection of your garrisons.

indeed promised to give you an answer in writing at an earlier day than this. But being anxious to obtain particular information from a gentleman who was in town, well acquainted with the places to which you refer, and from some accident, not being sole as yet to lay my hands upon the letter of Mr. Jefferson to you, on the 9th July, 1792, I was hopeful that my personal declarations to you, would continue to receive fuch full confidence, as to afford sufficient opportunity for the most particular inquiry. But being disappointed in seeing that gentleman, I think it best to answer your letter without further delay.

I have it in charge from the president of the United Scaces, again to assure you, that his purpose to cultivate harmony with your nation, and to prevent the measures of which you complain in the above letters, continues unchanged. Orders will therefore be immediately repeated upon this point, to repress the violences which you state, and they shall be accompanied with an injunction, to use against the refractors every coertion which the laws will permit. We have received no intelligence of the particular facts to which you refer; but to prevent all unnecessary circuity, in first inquiring into them, and next transmitting to this city the result, the proper instructions will be given to act without waiting for further directions.

In these measures, Sir, you will see a real disposition in us to friendship and good neighbourhood; and I shall be justified by your own recolhonour to be, Sir, with great respect, your most obedient servant,

EDM. RANDOLPH. (Signed) Mr. Hammond, minister plenipotentiary of Great-Britain.
