THE TEAR.

The Idea from the German.

HOW fill was the moment, how sweet was the scene!

The breeze scarcely ruffling the leaf or the grove.

And the spirit of freshness that breath'd on the green, Seem'd to cool with his breath to a holiness love, I met the dear maid by the moonlighted bow'r:

And held her refign'd to the throb of my yeaft.
While I swore by the fill and the heav'nly hour.
That my heart without her would be hoperess unbleit. I spoke of the bliss that belong'd to the few Whom love had united with feelings the same:

And I ask'd, with the tervour of auxiousness true
If affection with Laura was only a name.

I felt the fine tremor her bosom that shook, As passion in murmurs reply'd from her soul; And I knew that the maid was sincere, in a look; When a tear on her cheek from her melting eye

Bleft drop! of more worth than the gift of the

That instant reflected in thee was display'd. The chaste queen of night who acknowledg'd the sign, And smil'd on the tear of the fond loving maid I gaz'd, and my eyes seem'd to have but one ray

There center'd: (Earth, Heav'n had 'vanish'd from them:)
And I saw but the tear that was fading away.

THE GLEANER.

The foundations on which christianity is built, and its superiority to mere moral obli gations, should be understood by every christian; but to separate faith from morals is the work of an enemy. It is only "through faith, working by love," that we are made meter for the inheritance of the faints in light. The degree of our respective duties, of knowing and acting, depends upon our opportunity of exerting either faculty. Those whose limit ed understandings, or humble stations, prevent them from acquiring much information, may be truly fincere in the practice of christian vir tue; but where abilities are granted, and leiture allowed, a more ample flock of chrif-tian knowledge is indiffenfable; and for this reason, because such persons are more exposed to those temptations from which it is the best human prefervative. The readers whom I particularly address require this salutary aid. General opinion (except in those points wherein it is partially missed by fashion) preferibes those outwards decorums of conduct which are necessary to make the in the world; but those who can true commission require to be taught, that, unless they found this decorum on inward purity of heart, and a defire of obeying their Maker, bearing the name of Christ will not deter-mine them truly to belong to the fold of which he is the appointed Snepherd.

[Mrs. West.]

Were the christian duty of self-examination rigorously performed, I am persuaded the world would exhibit a very different ap-pearance, both with respect to sin, and to its constant associate, forrow. Enfeebled virtue would recover its stability; nay the seducer himfelf would pause in his guilty career and perceive " confideration come like an angel to whip the offending Adam out of hint," and thew him the little value of what he feeks to purchase at the rifk of eternal perdition. Nor are the uses of restection is meditation confined to our moral conduct, though their exercise is here most important. It is by these means that the difficulties of science are conquered, and the refinements of taste acquired. The skilful artist is formed by this felf-communion; and the plans of the flatesman and the warrior are thus ripened into perfection. Even that which is known by the name of pleasure is truly more enjoyed by retrospection in the filence of your apartment, than when the gaudy scene actually passed your staring eyes, and the confused buz of sound agitated your auricular organs. Such an act of the memory may be compared to the animal faculty of rumination; we at first swal-law pleasure in the gross, & are too anxious to devour much, to discriminate its constituent parts; but when remassicated, we duly appreciate its pungency. A load of weligested pleasure (suffer me to continue the allustob) palls the latiated appetite; a small quantity, taken after proper intervals, exhilirates the spirits, and insuses alacrity into every part. This is essentially true of the pleasures which arise from conversation. Refined wit and brilliant sense communicate an inward degree of satisfaction every time we recall them to our remembrance. Genius, whether we feek her in the walks of the imitative arts, or in the " nobler growth of thought," does not immediately pour her full radiance on our eyes; we must contemplate her splendour before we can appreciate its degree of brightness. Even elegance and heauty, when they belong to the higher degrees of excellence, folicit minute attention, and refuse to unveil their minute attention, and refuse to unveil their the said estate. Given under my hand the coy graces to the careless gaze of the hurried 12th day of March, 1811.

PAUL'S DOMESTIC INFALLIBLE

 ${\it COLUMBIAN}$ ${\it OIL}.$

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine Is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic, it is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has betgreat distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security for their money as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable charafters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found so efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure, viz: Rheumatism, Consumption, rains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the back and breast, Colds and Coughs, Toosthach, Pieurisies, Cholic, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough & Mumps, and Dysentary or Bloody Flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite, it will ad as a powerful bra, er to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first as a powerful brajer to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone. It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pediorals and expediorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Highistick or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of Walking fast, stooping or lying down, are almost sufficiently as the relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809.

I do certify, that I have been ailing nearl, two years with a hefue cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eniment physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I get Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incombent duty to oner the same to the public.

Sept. 1809. From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent screthroat, about the 26th of Auglast, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of melasses, which took away pieces of purid flesh and healed my throat in about 48

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grand-child, and infant of 17 months old which was ta-ken about the first of August with slow fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician, who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five dreps morning and evening, for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandn perfect health. MARY UNDERWOOD.

Str,
I comply with your request of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm. I have been afflicted with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm and fimiliar complaints. I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when the tetter left, me, and has not made its appearance

SUSANNA PURDEN N. B. My Susanna, a child aged 20 months & 6 days, was taken about the middle of July last, with a violent cough, which the Reighbours said was the whooping cough; I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.
