50 Dollars Reward.
Run away from the subscriber living in South River Neck, Saturday the 27th February, a negro fellow who calls himself THOMAS BROWN, about 43 years of age, five feet eight or nine inches high, has a bald patch on the back part of his head; when spoken to has an impediment in his speech; and is much given to intoxication—Had on when he made his escape, a kersey round-about jacket and trousers, two muslin shirts, old hat and shoes—he also took with him some shoemaker's tools. This fellow was originally from Benedict, Charles county, and may have gone thither as he has some connections in that neighbourhood, or probably to Alexandria, as he is there well acquainted. If taken ten miles from some ten dollars will be given, if 20 miles, 20 dollars, if 30 miles, 30 dollars,

50 Dollars Reward.
Run away from the subscriber on Saturday the 7th February, 1813, living on the North side of Severn, in Anne-Arundel county, near Annapolis, a black man named David, calls himself DAVID CALVERT, 22 years old, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, he has thick black hair and tolerable large features; is apt to smile when spoken to and shows his teeth very much. He had when he went away, a round jacket and trousers of homespun kersey, dyed purple, he took other clothing with him, among which there was a regimental coat. It is probable he is lurking about in the lower end of this county, where he has an extensive acquaintance and many relations, and from thence lately purchased him of John Swiney, living near Friendship; he therefore has relations in Alexandria,

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.
FURTHER EXTRACTS.
From late London Papers.
LONDON, JAN. 20.
GOTTENBURG MAIL.
Admiral Tschischagoff reports to His Imperial Majesty, under date of the 11th December, (N. S.) on his march, 20 versts from Wilna, as follows:—

"Since my report of the 17th (29th) of Nov. I have pursued the enemy with all possible speed, and allowed him no repose either by night or day. In the first days we were rather detained, by his having destroyed the bridges; but a few hours were sufficient for us to put them in repair again. I afterwards proceeded by forced marches; the van-guard did not lose sight of him for a single moment—drove him from several of his encampments—forced him to march by night, and took several cannon and some prisoners from him. From passing the Beresina as far as Wilna, we have taken 150 pieces of artillery, upwards of 700 boxes of cartridges, rammers, and so great a number of baggage wagons, that the road in several places is choaked with them; we have likewise captured two standards, some generals and several thousand prisoners. His rear-guard has been attacked and cut up, so that he is flying in disorder and without any defence; the men drop down with fatigue, and, thrown into despair, surrender themselves. The enemy's loss does not amount to less than 30,000 men. The roads are covered with their killed and wounded and men dying with the cold. Punishment follows so quick on these miscreants, that they fall victims to the flames in the dwellings to which they have set fire, and are frozen to death in the very houses which they have destroyed, by breaking the doors and windows.

"We have this day been carried into Wilna on their shoulders.
"They have not succeeded in carrying off any thing from thence.
Exclusive of the 150 pieces of artillery aforesaid, a great number of cannon have fallen into our hands; all the magazines are full. Among the great number of sick and wounded are several generals; and among these, as I am informed, are Gens. Zejonezick and Lefebvre. My vanguard is pursuing then close at their heels.

"Lieut. General Tschaplitz has particularly distinguished himself, and by his rapid and incessant pursuit of the enemy, there never passes a day in which he does not come up with him two or three times, and force him to leave chests of cartridges behind him.
"One of Marshal Oudinot's Adjutants, who was left behind by the Marshall to wait for his rear-guard and to obtain information from them of the strength of the corps which was in pursuit of them, was made prisoner in Oschman; and as the rear-guard had mean while been made prisoners and cut up, this young man was most astonished when instead of their rear, he beheld our vanguard. He could not conceive how it came there.

"The prisoners confirm the intelligence that Napoleon is no longer able to conceal his difficult situation; that the whole army, sinking under their fatigues, are murmuring, and becoming dangerous to him. A few days ago we took a great number of his guards. I have had several times for my habitation the same house which had been only quitted a few hours previously, and he has several times taken himself off at the moment when the skirmishing commenced between my van-guard and his rear."
—St. Petersburg Gazette, Dec. 18.
The Adjutant-General Marquis Paulucci informs his imperial majesty, under date the 12th December, from Riga, as follows:
"Since my last most submissive report to your majesty, no operations have taken place with the enemy, excepting his having with small number attacked the advanced pic-quet of the post stationed at Jung-ferhof, probably for the purpose of reconnoitring the situation there.
No material alteration has taken place in the enemy's position.

"The head quarters of Marshal Macdonald still remain at Isalgau.
His army is 25 or 30,000 men strong.
"The General of division, Grand Jean, is at Nerf. His corps, which is composed of Bavarians and Poles, to the amount of ten battalions of infantry, two squadrons of cavalry, and 12 pieces of artillery, is at Nerf, Pomedel, and other places in the adjacent country."
—Petersburgh Gazette, Dec. 7—18.

ST. PETERSBURGH, DEC. 12.
Intelligence from the army, which is published at the head-quarters, contains the following article, in addition to many others describing instances of heroism in the Russian armies.
"Whilst our armies continue to beat the enemy, the inhabitants of the several Governments are burning with desire to bring every thing in their power, as offerings to their native country. This noble feeling in their fellow-citizens animates the warriors with fresh courage, and they wish not to taste the sweets, until they have destroyed the insolent foe, who, by his invasion, has profaned the land of our fathers.— This holy flame of love for our native country warms all ranks. We lately informed our countrymen and brethren of the manly efforts of our worthy peasantry towards the destruction of the enemy, we now consider it as a pleasing duty to lay the conduct of other ranks of people before the Public. The inhabitants of the towns of Thirk and Kalouga have already, at sundry times, sent official persons from their body to his Excellency the Commander in Chief of the armies, to render him their heartfelt acknowledgments.— They, and the inhabitants of the Government of Rosan, have offered to deliver half pelisses for our warriors. Mr. Skarskinski, a land owner, in the Government of Cherson, has, with the consent of his mother given 100 men out of 1,000 which is the population of their common estates, and none of whom are above 35 years of age; clothed and provided them with saddle horses, and has, besides, engaged to pay the common soldiers out of his own purse as long as the war continues: and, having put himself at their head has joined the active army.

ST. PETERSBURGH, DEC. 16.
A Society of patriotic Ladies has been formed here under the patronage of her Majesty, the Empress Elizabeth Alexjeuna, for the support of the families which have suffered by the war, and for the relief of the wives and children of those who are with the army. The Secretary of State, Prince A. N. Golezyn, having presented to his Imperial Majesty the plan of this society, he has been pleased to honor it with his most gracious approbation, as appears from the following letter addressed to those benevolent ladies by his Excellency Prince Golezyn:
"Gracious Ladies—I have had the happiness of laying before his Majesty the Emperor the project of the benevolent institution, called the Patriotic Society of St. Petersburg Ladies, his Imperial Majesty, who has with peculiar satisfaction accepted this beneficial design, as a proof of his attention to this very benevolent institution, has been pleased to subscribe to it 50,000 rubles; and 10,000 rubles annually, to the same, as long the Society exists."
—(St. Petersburg Gazette, Dec.
6—18.)

KOSTRONA, NOV. 12.
On the 8th (20th) instant, two regiments of infantry, the 12th and 13th, passed through our town in ceremonial march, having arrived from the Dwina and going to Jaroslaw, to teach the regiments which are forming there from the new raised recruits their exercise. On the 9th (21st) instant in the evening, the Oxenburg regiment of Tartar cavalry arrived here, and, after having rested the 22d on the 23d proceeded from hence on the Jaroslaw road to Usushos. This regiment consists of picked men, armed with sabres, pikes, and arrows. The inhabitants of this place received these warriors, marching against the enemy, with the greatest kindness, and every housekeeper endeavoured to treat those who were quartered upon him to the best of his power.

[Same papers.]
The General Count Wittgenstein informs his Imperial Majesty, under date of 10th Dec. N. S. from the village Swiranka, as follows: The Adjutant-General Golenisch-tshew Kutusow, and Major General Borodsin, who were sent by me with detachments of cavalry in pursuit of the enemy by different routes, have this day sent me the following information, viz: the first states, that in pursuing the Bavarians under the command of General Wrede, with his corps he has taken 126 staff and upper officers, and 2034 privates prisoners; among these was a whole battalion which, when it found itself surrounded, was by the prudent measures of Col. Timtinoen obliged to lay down its arms, without making the least resistance. The whole of the requisitions which the enemy had collected in the country was retaken by Adjutant-General Kutusow; some transports of which he had appropriated to the use of the troops, and the remainder he kept back, so that not the least means were left the enemy for their support.

Yesterday General Kutusow arrived at the Red House, (Tscher-wonni Dwor) not far from the village of Nementschina, and a detachment of his forces under Lieut. Col.
Tettenbom, this day entered the suburbs of Wilna. The enemy is leaving that city in the greatest disorder, and it may, therefore, be expected that our troops will take possession of it this evening. As the enemy does not at present halt at Wilna, even for a moment, I have directed Adj. General G. Kutusow to advance on the road to Kowno, and vigorously pursue him, in order to profit by the disorder of his retreat, and cause him as much damage as possible. My van-guard under the command of Major Gen. Wlas-tow, follows his steps to support him; and I myself shall march by Nementschina.
The second reports, that he had made a considerable number of prisoners, and taken a part of their train of artillery on his march to Nementschina, and in the town of Nementschina itself.

To this the major general Borsin adds, that Colonel Sochosane of the guards, who, according to my orders, had been detached by him to act on the enemy's flank, has this day entered the suburbs of Wilna.
Having received intelligence that three battalions of armed men, collected in the provinces, were at Swenzany, he dispatched a part of his troops under Col. Gemyrop to take them himself with the rest continuing his march to Beresou.
Beside this, I have instructed him to discover the true movements of Macdonald—of all which I have most submissively, the happiness of rendering your Imperial Majesty information.

FRENCH PAPERS.
VIENNA, JAN. 2.
A courier which arrived here yesterday, brought dispatches from Prince Schwartzenberg, dated Bialystock, December 24. According to these dispatches, the Austrian auxiliary corps, informed that the French had left Wilna, withdrew on the 14th, the parties which they had advanced to Nieswick, Sluzk, and Luebatezew, and from Slonim, took its direction towards the Niemen, in order to be able to march, according to circumstances, to Grod-no or Bialystock.—[Journal de l'Empire, Jan. 13.]

JANUARY 3.
His Excellency Count Otto, em-bassador from France, has frequent conferences with our Ministers.— Our court always acts in concert with that of France, never with their connexions more intimate.
It is confirmed, that in many provinces of the Monarchy, considerable levies of horses will be made for France.
Several of our Generals employed in the interior have received orders to repair to the different corps of observation which we have on the frontiers. The Prince of Wiedrunkel goes to Kaschau, in Upper Hungary.
General Kuger takes the command of a division in the Banat. General Pflanzlitter goes to command another in Croatia. Field marshal Lieut. Zach, who during several campaigns in Italy, exercised the functions of the staff of the Army, has been appointed commandant of the forces of Olmutz, in Moravia.

His Imperial Highness the Archduke Palatine, has arrived here from Ofen (Buda.)

According to the last accounts from Semlin, the arrangements between the Porte and Servia are not yet published. The Servian Deputies are still at the head-quarters of the Grand Vizier to Schumla, & they frequently send couriers to Belgrade.
We are assured, that there are still two points demanded by the Servians, to which the Grand Vizier cannot consent, without being expressly authorized by the Grand Seigneur. He has sent off a courier to Constantinople, for instructions on this subject.
[Gazette de France, Jan. 14.]

OGDENSBURG, (N. Y.) MARCH 3.
The confusion produced by the taking of this place prevented our giving a detailed account in our last upon Ogdensburgh on the 22d ult.
On the morning of that day the troops at Prescott, were (as they had been for several preceding mornings) paraded on the ice, and after going through a variety of evolutions, formed in two divisions—the right wing consisting of about 125 men, and the left wing of 4 or 500, in this order, they set out for Og-densburgh, and proceeded half way across the river before it was believed they were in earnest. The right wing passed above the old barracks, and were met by capt. Forsyth and were drove with very considerable loss; the left wing entered the town with little opposition—the cannon were soon taken, and turned against the old barracks, at which time a flag was sent to captain Forsyth demanding him in the most peremptory manner to surrender, which he indignantly refused to do. He however finding the enemy had got possession of the cannon, and had dispersed the troops in the village, prudently retreated up the St. Lawrence about four miles, and then crossed the country to the state road at Kellogg's, where he was joined by those who had escaped from the village.

This village was plundered, and many of the inhabitants was stripped of all their clothing, bedding, &c. Col. McDonald who commanded the expedition, could not in all cases prevent this unjustifiable practice, we believe he exerted himself as much as was in his power. Our loss was 5 killed and 10 wounded, the prisoners taken were 63, 18 or 20 of whom were enlisted soldiers, the remainder were inhabitants—from the best information we can collect the enemy had between 60 and 70 killed and wounded. Col.
McDonald was wounded in the leg.
The enemy employed themselves very industriously in removing the public stores, cannon, &c. and in the afternoon they retired to Pres-cot.

We are not able to give an exact account of the public property, we lament it was to so vast an amount —the very valuable train of artillery taken is a serious loss, it consisted of 2 double fortified 12 pounders, 2 iron 9's, 2 brass 9's, 2 brass 6's, 2 iron 4's and 2 others, 12 in all; also about 1400 stand of arms, with accoutrements complete, a vast quantity of ammunition, 2 stands of colours, 300 tents, and a large quantity of camp equipage, together with a very considerable quantity of beef, pork, flour, &c. The arms and artillery principally belonged to this state.

SAVANNAH, MARCH 4.
A letter from a gentleman in St.
Mary's to his friend in this city, dated Feb. 28th, 1813, states that the Tennessee troops, and those under Col. Smith, have returned from an expedition against the Indians, which they have defeated. They took from them 100 horses, and a great many cattle, and some prisoners, having killed 20, some say 60, and burnt the Lochaway town, and several small Indian towns. Our loss is one killed and 7 wounded.
