white fearning main. All dark is the night; and all gloomy Save when the red lightnings the e ther divide; Then follows the thunder, with loud sounding roar,

And echoes in concert, the billowy tide. But the all is murky and shaded with gloom, Hope, the soother, soft whispers the tempest shall cease;

Then nature again in her beauty shall And enamour'd embrace the fair sweet smiling peace. For the bright blushing moining, all rosy with light, Shall convey on her wings the Creator of day,.

He shall drive all the tempests and terrors of night-And nature, enliven'd, again shall be gay. Then the warblers of spring shall attune the soft lay, And again the bright floweret shall blush in the vale; On the breast of the ocean the sephyr shall play, And the sun-beam shall sleep on the hill and the dale. If the tempests of nature so soon sink to rest,

If her once faded beauties so soon glow again, Shall man be forever by tempests oppress'd,

By the tempests of passion, of sor row, and pain?

Ah no! for his passions and sorrows shall cease,
When the troublesome ever of life

shall be o'er: In the night of the grave he shall slum ber in peace, And passion and sorrow shall vex him no more. And shall not this night and its long dismal gloom,

Like the night of the tempest again pass away? Yes! the dust of the earth in bright beauty shall bloom, And rise to the morning of heavenly day!

MEMOIRS

Of the life and rejustry of the late Rev. Thomas Thencer, of Liver-pool, by the Rev. Thos. Raffles. "This is an interesting biography of a very interesting youth; eminent for piety, for devotedness to religion, and for zeal and success in preaching: -In the pulpit indeed, he was unrivalled. Not only the wondering multitude who flocked to hear him, but the admiration of the most intelligent judges bore test mony to the powers of his elos quence. The writer of this had the pleasure of his acquaintance, to which he was first drawn by popular opinion, and with the expectation only of gratifying that curi-osity which vulgar fame had excited; and listened to him with great delight, which repeated opportunities increased, and which assigned him the pre-eminence for pulpit talents, after having heard the most renowned of the clergy, both of the Establishment and among the Dissenters. There was in his appearance such unaffected humility, in his devotions such elevated piety, and in his sermons such persuasive earnestness, that it was impossible to remain an unmoved auditor. Thousands who went to criticize returned to prayas much disposed to condemn themselves as applaud the preacher.

His untimely death excited a sympathy which was not only felt in Liverpool where he had been settled about six weeks. but throughout the kingdom of Great-Britain; for he was extensively known, beloved and admired. That such genius, talents and eminence should be allowed so short a career-that the expectations of society, so well founded, should so soon be disappointed, is among the mysteries of Divine Providence. "Honourable age is not that which standeth in length of time, nor that is measured by number of years; but wisdom is the gray hair unto man. & unspotted life is old age. He pleased Gop, and was beloved of him-and so was speedily taken away. Being made perfect in a short time, he fulfilled a long time, for his soul pleased the Lord, therefore hasted to take him away-Thus the righteous that is dead shall warn the living, and the youth that is soon perfected quicken the years and the old age of those who survive."

PROPOSALS For publishing in the City of Baltimore, A DAILY NEWSPAPER,

TO BE ENTITLED,

THE BALTIMORE TELEGRAPHE AND MERCANTILE ADVERTISER.

BY ALLEN AND HILL. . The subscribers, while they solicit a candid and generous public to patronize the project which they have now un-dertaken of establishing a daily paper in the city of Baltimore, feel with no common sensibility the delicacy and difficulty of the undertaking. Many have supposed that the citizens of the United States, are so enflamed by party animosity that it behoves every patriot to frown on every new champion who enters the field of political controversy. This hypothesis, if rigidly examined will be found to end in this absurdity, that the condition of our country both abroad and at home, is so deplorable, that all attempts at reformation become criminal. If the national treasury is exhausted, commerce extinguished, public credit impaired, executive power en. larged while executive responsibility is lost, if our representatives in congress have so far forgotten their own dignity and the sanctity of their constitutional trust, as te declare that the will of an individual arms the law of the land; if in addition to this host of calamities, we are involved in a foreign war by which nothing can be gained and every thing is put in jeopardy-are we to be told that it is criminal to speak the words of honesty and truth? On the contrary, it is conceived that the argument points directly the other way for in proportion to the desperation of our public circumstances, should be the zeal of our attempts to reform. The subscribers would propose to at-tempt, but it would in them be the height of arrogance and presumption to say that they will be able to make their paper an interesting repository of intelligence. They have no hesitation in declaring that its character will be purely federal-by which they would be understood to mean, that neither the pride of power, or the insolence of office, shall prevent them from speaking salutary, although unpalatable truths. Having seen our political circumstances growing hourly more desperate; as the precepts and example set by Wash ington have been hourly abandoned they deem it no less a right than a du ty to raise one more warning voice, and apprise their countrymen of their danger while it is yet in their power to
