Tay be soldidently affirmed to interfere with the presence condition of the street tries, when it is now a present fatteries, ence would we viewed by the United State as a just cause of war on her part with any power attempting such interference.

From the Britsh Traveller of Jan. 2. Whateversensation may have been producial by the President's message to the Congress of the United States it is scarcely noticed in the French journals. If however, the affairs of South America are to be come the subject of deliberation at the en-suing Congress of Legitimates, the public expect to be amused with the chagris that will be doubtlessly manifested at an avowal so directly interfering with the u-terior views of the Holy Alliance. How-ever the continental powers may have ben encouraged in arrogant pretension, by the supposed pacific determination of Great-Britain the resolute decision of the Uni tem on either of the Ameican continent resents an obstacle, to surmount which were beyond the strength of the alliance. There remains then only the alternative of relinquishing the project, with the best grace that circumstances may admit; SOUTH AMERICA.

The French papers do not conceal the designs of the Holy Alliance against South America.—The Etoile says, that the men of war San Pablo, San Blass, and three continuous and the same of t

You will oblige me by inserting in your by a republican friend, and which, on examining a file of the Maryland Republican, I discover to be correct so far as transcribed from that paper

No Caucus Man.

In the Maryland Republican of Saturday the 18th day of November last, there is an addressed at the sample of the approaching presidential, election, from which is copied the following declaration of the Editor of that paper, viz. "It is raught, DO NOT. APPROVE of Mr. CRAWRORD'S FOLFRICAL CHARACTER, end I SHALL NOT MY BELF voluntarily. At 1978 PRETENSIONS," ALD HE PRETENSIONS

The congressional exacus, about which there has been so much clamour within the last two months has been held, and the Hon. William H. Crawford, dow presiding over the Treasury Department, has been recommended by it to the people of these United States as a patriot and statesman well qualified to fill the presidential chair, when it shall become vacant by the expiration of the constitutional term of our present worthy chief magistrate. The meet-133 An additional supplement to an act, present worthy chief magistrate. The meeting was held on Saturday evening last, at which time the Hon. Albert Gallitin, was likewise recommended as a suitable candidate for the Vice Presidency.

The people of this Union should attach no little importance to this recommenda-tion to have made by men whose public stations have necessarily led to an intimacy between them and the several gen tlemen for some time past exhibited to the public view as worthy, of our support; by men, where intelligence and judgment are not likely to be deceived by external appearances, or warped by private friendship; and whose thorough acquaintance with our national concerns, eminently qualify them to designate the individuals whose characters fit them for the highly honourable and responsible stations for which Mr. Crawford and Mr. Gallatin have been recomord and Mr. Gallatin have been recom-It will avail the enemies of the gentlemen thus recommended little, to say, that the meeting which singled them out as most worthy of the support of the free and ir-formed electors of these United States, was not so numerously atonded as former meetings which have been held for a similar purpose. The days of violent party excitement have passed away, and the angry feelings which a few years since goaded many to appear at such, meetings have subsided. The same prudential reasons subsided. The same prodential reasons which urged the largest body of republican members of congress in favour of any one candidate for the Projectory, to reccommend Mr. Crawford to the people, no doubt restrained the friends of Messieurs Adams. Calhoun Clay and Jack sieurs Adams, Calhoun Clay, and Jack-son, trom attending the caucus, and mak-ing an attempt to vote down the propo-sitions which were submitted to its consideration If this be the case, and it ought to be taken for granted that it is until some explicit denial of the fact is made, the conclusion to be drawn is, that even those Republicans, with some few exceptions, who did-not attend the-meeting, declined doing to from a consistion of the propriety of holding it. If they say they were provented they were not strong enough in number to defeat the object of the meeting, they at once make the admission that the recommendation of Mr. Crawford has been made by a party too strong for them to onmade by a party too strong for them to oppose; therefore the enemies of Mr. Craw ford have no just ground for complaint on account of the paucity of the number that attended the meeting A Democratic Republican.

The Chairman having stated the object for which the members had been called together. gether, Mr. Dickerson rose and moved to proceed to ballot for candidates for the offi-

Mr. Van Buren opposed postpenement, the ground generally; that it would be perfectly convenient and agreeable for all to attend. The People were anxiously waiting for a nomination, and felt confident that a large portion of the Republicans of the Union were decidedly in favour of this node of nomination, and that it was quite time that it should be made.

The question was then put on Mr. Mark-ley's preamble and resolutions, negatived. On motion of Mr. Van Buren, that the Republican Members of Congress should be called up by states—it was agreed to.

The chairman then proceeded to a call, when it appeared that the following members twee respresent, with the exception of two

The preceding account is given from the thiogration of the ear; but it is believed to be substantially correct.

From the National Intelligencer of Monday. The number of persons who attended the Meeting at the Capital, and vated for Mr. Crawford, as a Candidate for the Presidency, is not, we are well informed, a correct test of his actual popularity among the Members. There are many, friendly to his elec-instructed not to attend to for divers other reasons, did not attend the Meeting.

The following statement of facts is handed to us for publication, from a responsible source: Much pains, we understand, has been taken to make it correct:

of this been satisfactorily ascertained that the whole number of federalists, in both Hodses of Congress, is forty. There both Houses of Cong est, is forty. There-being one vacancy in the Senate, from Lou-isiana, the whole No of members is 260, leaving 220 republicans. Of these, 93 are in favour of Mr. Crawford 38 for Mr. Ad-ams, 32 for Mr. Clay, 25 for Mr. Calhoun, and 23 for General Jackson. If the fede-ral gentlemen have a 'preference, it is not known for whom. Most of the members in favour of Mr. Adams are from the New England states, and their second preference would, with few exceptions, be Mr. crawwould, with few exceptions, be Mr : raw-ford. Mr. Clay's friends are chiefly from Kentucky, Ohio, and Missouri, with a few scattering members in other states. Among the members, Mr. Calhoun is preferred for the Presidency by a greater number than General Jackson. This is accounted for from the circumstance that he has about ten of the democratic members from Penn-sylvania in his favour, while not more than wo or three are for Gen. Jackson. If this state should not support Mr. Calhoun, stands lowest of the candidates : It will seen, then, that nearly as many of Mr Crawford's friends were absent from the meeting as of any other of the candidates.

Mr. Johnson offered the following mes sage, which was read and laid on the table Gentlemen of the house of delegates-The present depressed state of our treasury requiring the adoption of a system of strict economy, thesenate would respectfully sug-gest that the per diem of the members of the legislature at the present session and hereafter, should be reduced to two, or at any rate to three dullars per day, and that the same reduction should be made in the compensation of our officers. There may compensation of our others. There may be some difficulty in making this reduction apply to all the members and officers, because some may have latitudy received a part of their compensation, but it appears to the senate, that provision may be made to make such refund to the treasury one or two dollars on every four that may have two dollars on every four that may have been paid them. It will be perceived by your honourable body, that the reduction here suggested would, provided it was only the lesser sum proposed, save to the state annually at least $8000; if the larger at least $16,000—either of which sums would be under the existing state of things of great importance to the treasury. The senate supposing that justice and liberality both require that if economy be necessary it should be first commenced by measure effecting the member- of the legislature indi vidually, respectfully submit the subject of this message to the judgment of your house with whom only the measure it proposes can originate.
