Comprising, a Seed and Implement Store, a General Agricultural Agency and the Office of The AMERICAN FARMER, in the basenical of Barnum's City Hotel, Baltimore in connexion with a Stock and Experintental Farm, a Garden and Nursery in the vicinity.

I TRVINE HITCHCOCK and GIDEON B.

HAVE commenced the above named establishment, and solicit for it the attention and patronage of farmers, gardeness, superymen, and the public generally. The objects we have particularly in view, are two:—First, to keep and furnish uniconair to all who will favour ds with their custom,

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS of the scrybel quality, and accord, to procede from all possible storces, foreign and domestic, such things as promise to be of utility to our country, for either the field or garden; to test by experiment their adaptation to our climate and soil; and if found valuable, to disseminate them over the country.

The latter of these objects is the legitimate end and purpose of Agricultural and Horticultural Societies, the want of which in this central part of the United States being saverely felt, we have undertaken nited States being severely felt, we have undertaken to supply their place, so far as lies in our power. In pursuance of this determination, we have attached to the Farmer Establishment an on which G. B. S, has located himself, and to the superintendence of which he will, in connection with his editorial duties, devote his attention.

Another principal branch of our farming operations, will be the cultivation for the Store, of every valuable kind of GARDEN SEBDS to which our elimate is a lapted; and for this purpose, such preparation has been made, by the importation and collection of the most excellent kinds, as shall insure the good quality of all we shall produce; so that the most imperintendence of which he will, in connection with his editorial duties, devote his attention.

Another principal branch of our farming operations, will be the cultivation for the Store, of every valuable kind of GARDEN SEEDS to which our elimate is a lapted; and for this purpose, such preparation has been male, by the importation and collection of the most excellent kinds, as shall insure the good quality of all we shall produce; so that the most timplicit reliance may at all times be placed upon the freshness and good quality of all seeds bearing the label of this establishment.

As time and means permit, we shall establish an EXTENSIVE NURSERY, and further extend and improve our FRUIT and FLOWER GARDEN; and in the management of these departments, as in that of Garden Seeds, we shall attend more to the good quality of the productions than to the number of four productions that has the back volumes, that only a small number of full sets (complete from the commencement) can hereofter be made.

The price of the work in sets is Five Dollars per volume, half bound and lettered. Most of the volumes may be had single at the same price.

FLOWER GARDEN; and improve our FRUIT and FLOWER GARDEN; and in the management of these departments, as in that of Garden Seeds, we shall attend more to the good quality of the productions than to the number of our varieties—for we are well aware that half a dozen really good kinds are worth more than half a hundred that are merely passable.

An extensive assortment of BOOKS and PERI-ODICALS on Agricultural, Horticultural and Veterinary subjects, will be always on our shelves, or at cur command.

Any of the above mentioned articles, also FIELD SEEDS of all kinds, AGRI-CULTURAL IMPLEMENTS AND MACHINES, DOMESTIC ANI MALS of choice kinds or improved breeds, FRUIT and ORNAMENTAL TREES, SHRUBS, PLANTS, Vines, any place designated, or if left to our selection, from that which we deem best for the article wanted. (In the latter case we hold ourselves responsible for the the latter case we hold ourselves responsible for the quality.) We are special agents for most of the principal nursery and gardening establishments in the Union; among which are—Prince & Sons, as Flushing, and Mrs. Parmentier, as the Brooklyn, New York; Carr's, and Hibbert and Buist's, at Philadelphia; Winship s, and Kenrick's, near Boston, and generally, for all others in the country. Catalogues of most of the above named establishments, may be had from us gratis.

All orders, for not only our own but for any other establishment, shall be strictly adhered to, and promptly and faithfully executed. On those for others than our own, we charge a commission of from five to ten per cent. according to circumstances. To elucidate the advantages of the "Select Circulating Library" such as we propose it is only accessary to compare it with some other publications.

Take the Waverly novels for example: the "Chronicles of the Canongate" occupy two volumes, which are sold at $1.25 to $1.50. The whole would be readily contained in three numbers of this periodical, at an expense of thirty-seven cents postage included!

So that more than three times the quantity of literary matter can be supplied for the same money by a dopting the newspaper form. But we consider transmission by mail, and the early receipt of a new book, as a most distinguishing feature of the publication—

Distant subscribers will be placed on a footing with those nearer at hand, and will be supplied at their own homes with equal to about Fifty Volumes of the common London novel size for Five Dollars. This may not take fifty-two weeks to accomplish, for the not longer than one week will elapse between the issuing of each number, yet, when there is a press of very interesting matter, or when two or more numbers are required to contain a whole work, the proprietor will feel himself at liberty to publish at shorter intervals—fifty-two numbers beingsthe equivalent for five dollars.

REMARKS.

The following is an extract from an editorial notice which appeared recently in a highly respectable journal. It expresses precisely the sentiment that has been repeatedly uttered by many of the most enlightened farmers of our country, as well as by nearly all of its cotemporary-periodicals:

"The 'American Parmer' has reached its fourteenth the although we have been familiar with its

"The American Parmer' has reached its sourcenth sear, and, although we have been familiar with its pages from the commencement, it still increases in interest; the great subject on which it is engaged is not exhausted. Some may be disposed to ask what new lights can be shed upon agriculture at this late period, and after all that has already appeared in various works upon a subject which only requires practical knowledge? Such we refer to the pages of the 'Farmer' from its commencement, and, in every number, they will find enough not only to reward them for their time and labour, but in many single numbers information of sufficient talue to compensate them for u formation of sufficient value to compensate them for u year's subscription."

print, may also occasionally be re-produced in our columns.

The publisher confidently assures the heads of fa milies, that they need have no dread of introducing the "Select Circulating Library" into their domestic circle, as the gentleman who has undertaken the Edivorial duties, to literary taste and habits adds a due sense to the responsibility he assumes in catering for an extended and moral community, and of the consequences, detrimental or otherwise, that will follow the 'issemination of obnoxious or wholesome mental all-ment. His situation and engagements afford him peculiar advantages and facilities for the selection of books. These, with the additional channels created by agencies at London, Liverppol, and Edinburgh, warrant the proprietor in guaranteeing a faithful execution of the literary department.

It would be supererogatory to dilate on the general advantages and conveniences which such a publication presents to people of literary pursuits wherever located, but more particularly to those who reside in retired situations—they are so obvious that the first glance cannot fail to fash conviction of its eligibility.

LINES,
To a friend, who was uttering extravagant expression
of pleasure, at a display of nutcher magnificence.

Oh gaze not my sister with so much delight, On those vain, fleeting splendours that lie Along the horizon, so gorgeously bright, Reflecting their huse on the sky.

They are forms that abide not, unstable as air; Though as lofty as Andes they rise; There's nothing substantial or permanent there— Then let them not dazzle your eyes.

They are clouds, beauteous clouds and resplendent
tis true,
And fringed with carnation and red,
And arrayed in a vesture of purple and blue,
Even down to their watery bed.

Bit deceptive as treason, and baseless as dreams,
They have borrowed the tints which they wear,
And their glorious effulgence, already it seems
Dissolving and fading in air. Then gaze not upon them with so much delight,
They will lead your punied vision astray;
While admiring their beauties, they pass from your sight,

Like the twilight's faint tremulous ray.

THE DYING GIRL'S LAMENT. Br Mas. C. Gons.

Why does my mother steal away
To hide her struggling tears,
Her trembling touch betrays uncheck'd
The secret of her fears;

My father gazes on my face
With yearning, earnest eye:
And yet there's none among them all,
To tell me I must die! My little sisters press around

My sleepless couch, and bring
With eager hands, their garden gift,
The first sweet buds of Spring!
I wish they'd lay me where those flowers
Might lure them to my bed,
When other Springs and Summers bloom,
And I am with the dead.

And I am with the dead.
The sunshine quivers on my cheek,
Glitt'ring, and gay, and fair,
As if it knew my hand too weak
To shade me from its glare?
How soon 'twill fall unheeded on
This death dew'd glassy eye!
Why do they fear to tell me so?
I know that I must die! The Summer wind breathes softly through
My lone, still, dreary room,
A lonelier and a stiller one

Avaits me in the tomb! But no soft breeze will whisper there,
No mother hold my head!
It is a fearful thing to be
A dweller with the dead!

Eve after eve, the sun prolongs
His hour of parting light,
And seems to make my farewell hours
Too fair, too heavenly bright!
I know the loveliness of earth,
I love the evening sky,
And yet I should not murmur, if
They told me I must die.

My playmates turn aside their heads
When parting with me now
The nurse that tended me a babe,
Now soothes my sching brow,
Ab! why are those sweet cradle hours
Of joy and fondling fled!
Not even my parents' kisses now,
Could keep me from the dead!
Our Pastor kneels traile me of Our Pastor kneels beside me oft.

Our Pastor kneels beside me off,
And talks to me of heaven;
But with a bolier vision still,
My soul in dreams have striven;
I've seen a beckoning hand that call'd
My faltering steps on high,
I've bearda voice, that, trumpet-tongued.
Bid me prepare to die!

Translated from the French. MARIANA THE NEAPOLITAN

Oh, what cannot a woman do when she is thandsome; when a deep resentment drives from her heart every passion but harred, every joy but vengeance. How religiously she treasures, the memory of an affront. Like a suring that gushes up and is lost in the sand of the desert, she melts into tears, until her cres dry up, or dearly seals them; or she waits eres dry up, or death seals them; or she waita silently for the passing of the enemy, like the Hyena of the Egyptian tombs.

Recently a beautiful Neapolitan young lady arrived in Paris with a young man, one of these who possess the art of inveigling the effections, and abusing the confidence of a female. He had said to Marians, follow me, abandon the claim of the confidence of the said to Marians, follow me, abandon thy old-father for mine-thy blue Italian aky for that of France-renounce for me the marriage that is proposed to you. For, yed the, pleasures of the world are opened, and the pleasures of love are for you. Maria an followed him.

had ministered to his pleasures, and left her with a smile. What had he to fear? She knew at even his real name. The feir of dishosoot, the lack of support, her woman's feebleness, would grive her soon from Paris.
