seductive apparatus. Her signals are with meretricious ornaments. With politeness, and apparent felicity We listen to the music of her many instruments, and we are charmed. We the cheerfulness and glee that reign her votaries, and we desire to be partaker We hear the sallies of her vivacity, at the of convivial mirth, and we are lured to join in the throng of those who worship at her shrine. Gradually we float down the current. The waters are at first but rippled, but as our bark proceeds, the waves swell more impetuously—and we hurry on more rapidly, until we are dashed into the whirlpool of ruin. Then she exposes her real character, then she her mask, and gladly would we return, we are within the tyrant's clutch. She her chains close round our necks, and by some miraculous delivery, we are after her slaves.—Sir, if she would true colours, upon her first approach, instead of assuming the mask of cheerfulness, and the mask of beauteous visage, her disfigured wretched heart, the danger would be gone. She might stalk our land. She might send her emissaries to enlist followers under her banners, but none would follow. She might she would invariably be repulsed. She she lingers along in her real she quaffed the insidious draught no echoing voice would be heard minutes, that the President submitted March, the President stated to the the 30th day of November last, of the propriety and expediency of other valuable articles, expenses in measures for protecting the Bank, against a run on the Western Branches.

During the first half year of 1833, the of stationary and printing was $9,093 59, of which $2,600 are stated to have paid on orders of the President, under the resolution of 11th March 1831. There is also a charge of Messrs. Gales and Seaton of $800, for printing the Report of the Exchange Committee.

Having made this examination of the Expense Account, we were not only struck with the large sum that had been expended under the head of Stationary and Printing, in the two years to which you refer, but also to the evident necessity there was, that the accounts should be so stated, as to enable the Directors and Stockholders to ascertain the particular sums of money paid, the quantity and names of the documents furnished, and the expenses of distribution and postage. With this object we stated at the last meeting of the Board, the result of our examination of the Expense Account, and submitted the following resolutions:

Whereas it appears by the Expense Accounts of the Bank for the years 1831 and 1832, that upwards of eighty thousand dollars were expended and charged under the head of Stationary and Printing during that period—that a large proportion of this was paid to the proprietors of newspapers and periodical journals, and for the printing, distribution and postage of immense number of pamphlets and newspapers—and that about twenty thousand dollars were expended, under the resolutions of 30th November 1830, and 11th March 1831, without any account of the manner in which, or the persons to whom the same were disbursed. And whereas it is expedient and proper, that the particulars of an expenditure so large and unusual, which can now be ascertained only by the examination of numerous bills and receipts, should be so stated as to be readily submitted to and examined by the Board of Directors and Stockholders: Therefore, Resolved, That the Cashier furnish to the Board at as early a day as possible, a full and particular statement of all the expenditures, designating the sums of money paid to each person, the quantity and names of the documents printed by him, and his charges for the distribution and postage of the same, together with a full statement, as may be, of the expenditures on orders, under the resolutions of 30th November 1830, and 11th March 1831. That we ascertain whether expenditures of the same character have been made at any of the offices, and, if so, procure similar statements thereof, with the authority on which they were made. That the said resolutions be rescinded, and no further expenditures made under the same.

These resolutions were postponed on the motion of one of the directors, for the purpose of introducing a substitute for them, by the vote of all present, except ourselves and one other member of the board. The resolution substituted was as follows. Resolved, That the board have confidence in the wisdom and integrity of the President, and in the propriety of the resolutions of the 30th November 1830, and 11th March 1831, and en-tain a full conviction of the necessity of a renewed attention to the object of those resolutions; and that the President be authorized and requested to continue his exertions for the promotion of said objects.

Viewing this as indicating an intention (which was indeed avowed) to continue, and even extend, the system of lavish expenditure, and to authorise disbursements, the particulars of which could not be clearly ascertained, either by the board or their constituents, and regarding it also as evincing a desire to encounter our remonstrances, against the continuation of such a system, by a reference to the personal character and motives of the President of the institution (which were not drawn into discussion or question by us) we offered as an amendment, the following resolutions: Resolved, That while this board repose entire confidence in the integrity of the President, they respectfully request him to cause the particulars of the expenditures, made under the resolutions of 30th November 1830, and 11th March 1831, to be so stated, that the same may be readily submitted to and examined by the board of directors and the stockholders.—Resolved, that no further expenditures be made under the same.

This amendment met with the same fate as our previous resolutions, being rejected by the same vote, and the resolution offered as a substitute was passed.

These, sir, are the circumstances attending the best examination we have been able to make, in regard to the matters referred to us, by your letter of the 3d instant.—Should they not prove sufficiently minute, or our report sufficiently explicit, we must infer, from the course pursued by the board, when our resolutions were submitted to them, that a more exact statement can only be obtained, by an agent directly authorized by the Executive.

We have the honour to be With great respect, your obt. servts.

HUGH McELDERRY.

Shortly after, Mr. Babcock promoted Howard to the Captaincy. On the 25th May the supercargo also died of the Fever. On the following day, during the absence on shore of Capt. Howard and the mate, Mr. J. Smith, Walpole loaded 20 pair of pistols, each with 2 balls. The captain and mate returned about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, retired to the cabin and lay down on the transom and fell asleep. Walpole put as many of the pistols in rows on the transom. Thus prepared, he took deliberate aim and discharged a pistol at the captain, one ball entering the groin, and the other the lower part of the abdomen, wounding him severely, he then turned round and shot the mate through the heart, who died without a struggle. He then ran on deck and fired at John Gowing, carpenter, whom he severely wounded in the side, exclaiming, "I have killed two, and will kill every white man on board!" At this crisis, James Berry, seaman, rushed towards him, when he turned and fled into the cabin. As Berry was descending the steps, Walpole fired at him; the ball passed over his head and entered the deck above. Berry succeeded in seizing him by the throat and forcing him to the floor; while in this situation he fired again, but with little effect as before: at this moment, one of the crew on deck handed Berry a pistol through the skylight, with which he blew out the murderer's brains. Walpole, in his piteousness, declared that he would be revenge—that no man should be captain but himself—and if that could not be effected, it was his intention to kill every white man on board. He had previously secured to himself the gold and other valuables on board. It was his intention to take to the Island of Bonney, get a crew, and take in a cargo of slaves, and proceed for the Havanna.

Capt. H. is in a very feeble state, the balls not having yet been extracted, and it is feared he will lose the use of his legs. The T. lies at anchor at Quarantine.

A morning paper, says the Philadelphia Chronicle, noticing the murderous acts and the bloody death of John Walpole on board the brig Texas, of New York, observes that the man may have taken a name which did not belong to him, and that the editor does not recollect that of Walpole, in this city.
About 6 years ago, one John Walpole, who used to go to sea, and had been considered a decent man, went from Philadelphia to Baltimore, when reports afterwards came that he had been detected in dishonest pursuits. He was again heard of; and he may have been the man now in question.

SAMUEL C. ATKINSON
PROPOSES to issue from the office of the Saturday Evening Post, in the month of May, 1835, the 1st number of a monthly publication, entitled, The BOOK OF NATURE,
Edited by an Association of Scientific Gentlemen of Philadelphia.

EACH NUMBER WILL CONTAIN FROM EIGHT TO TEN FINELY ENGRAVED QUARTO COPPER PLATES,

In the various departments of Natural History, each plate to contain from four to ten distinct figures, making from 50 to 100 figures in each number. With a view to diversify the publication as much as possible, a selection of one plate from each of the following subjects will illustrate each number:

1. QUADRUPEDS,	S. VERMES & Zoo-
2. BIRDS,	PHYTES,
3. AMPHIBIA,	9 BOTANY,
4. FISHES,	10. VEGETABLE A-
5. CRUSTACEA,	NATOMY,
6. INSECTS,	11. GEOLOGY,
7. SHELLS,	12. MINERALOGY.

Each plate will be accompanied with a brief but satisfactory description of every subject or figure it may contain, so written as to convey a good idea of the subject, without being either tiresome length, or so technically written, but that all may be read with pleasure. Every department of the great field of Natural History will be explored, its beauties and its sublime unfoldings, and its thousand "charms which nature to her votary yields," by the power of the pen, the pencil, and the press, will be laid before the eye of the intelligent admirer of the great works of a Divine Architect. No collection of engravings more valuable, we may confidently promise, can for many years be offered to the public at so cheap a rate. More than one hundred of these fine engravings will be given annually; to the man of taste, they will furnish subjects which he can admire from year to year, and present with pleasure to his friends; the artist, and the student in Natural History, may confidently refer to them on all occasions of doubt, while the juvenile portion of society will become acquainted with the inhabitants of the air, the ocean, and the earth. Geography can be learned only from maps or from travel; "The Book of Nature," without taking us further than the book-shelf or the closet, will unfold to us the congregated curiosities of the whole earth. The increased taste for this study, which the public have of late years evinced, induces the publisher to hope for extensive patronage for a work which necessarily involves great expenditure, and which will combine great interest, accuracy and beauty.

As the subjects embrace the whole range of Natural History, in order to make it as complete as possible, several scientific gentlemen have been engaged at a great expense to conduct the work; their united researches, it is believed, will render this periodical extremely valuable.

One great source of the patronage anticipated by the proprietor is from schools and colleges, and as the figures represented will be models of elegance and correct drawing, it will form a work for consultation by the Painter, Engineer, Drawing Master and Student, and will be of inestimable advantage in the procurement of their practice. In short, it will be adapted to the capacity and suited for the use of every class in the community, from the erudite naturalist to the early beginner—for the one a book of reference, and for all a source of pleasing study, amusement and instruction.

This work is not got up with a view to temporary popularity, or to a subscription of two years, in about which period it will certainly be completed; it will on the contrary, be so compiled as to be valuable as long as the plates last. After the term of two years, the price will be greatly enhanced, thus making the advantage on the side of those who now come forward to patronise an extensive and novel enterprise.

TERMS.
"The Book of Nature," will appear near the first of every month, with from eight to ten fine engraved plates in each number, making about 100 engravings in each volume, which will contain from five hundred to one thousand separate figures. The price will be five dollars per annum. Agents in other parts of the country will be entitled to five copies. No subscription will be received without payment in advance, or in-satisfactory references. Single numbers 50 cents, to those who wish to examine the work previous to subscribing. Address (always free of postage), SAMUEL C. ATKINSON, Philadelphia.
* * No subscription received for a shorter period than one year or volume.

SHOCKING MURDER.
We find, in the New York papers, of Friday, the subjoined statement of one of the most barbarous transactions that ever disgraced the marine of our country.
Extract from the Log book of the brig Texas, Capt. Howard, arrived yesterday at Quarantine, from the Coast of Africa:—"The T. sailed from this port on the 13th December last, under the command of Capt. Ellory, and Mr. P. Babcock as supercargo, bound to the coast of Africa on a trading voyage. On the 17th March, J. Walpole, of Philadelphia, chief mate, was broke for disobedience of orders, and superseded by the second mate, Charles Howard. Some time after their arrival at Cape, Capt. E. died of the Cape Fe-
