The Atarpland Gazette.

BELLES LETTRES A NEW AND STRIKING CHARACTER ADDED

VOL. LXXXIX.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY

JONAS GREEN,

LIC CIRCLE.

RICE-THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From the United States Gazette.

SERENADE.

SERENADE.
Listen, listen, Lady, fair!
From thy hower high in sin,
Listen, whether stars are waking,
Listen, while you have leave is taking.
Listen, while you stary ceiling
soft with chiming spheres it pealing.
Listen, while the weary hom,
In mortals turning them to rest,
Tell with the liberris come,
Tell within the liberris come,
Tell mort that music loves the heat;
Torn thee from the breathing lyre,
Listen only to the fluite
Of Thomas Mulligan, Figurize,
Coller blows the northern plast, of Thomas the northern olast, And freezing dows are falling first, these, the moon, but cold as clear, Toward drops the stars appear. Then a withered leaf blew past, ng me in shivering haste; the casement, Lidy fair!

Close the easement, Lody fair!
'Go not the chill of evening broezes,
'Charest in the wintry air,
'When the lake it deepest freezes;
'Go, while music's churm still lingers
In those arms to rest retire,
Add link not of the stiffening fingers,
Of the mas Mulligan, Laquire.

LADY.

Sweeter is the setting sun,
Then when his course is just begun;
Sweeter the expiring light,
Or telling star in such a might,
Than the still unblushing gaze
Of you red planet's occaseless bluze;
and the rections south.

Aucet is the retiring south.
Leaving on the lake the swell;

W en the player's finger- tire,

Of Thomas Mulligan, Esquire.

HE LUNATIC ASYLUM AT PALER-

Two of the best conducted lumitic asylums the world are in the kingdom of Naples-lermo. The latter is managed by a whim-ne to it, and with assistance of the govern-tion. The poor are received gratuitously.

those who can afford it, enter as boarders.

of are furnished with luxuries according to The hospital stands in an airy situation in the hospital stands in an airy situation in the lovely neighbourhood of Palermo. We notify neighbourhood of Palermo.

ery, who introduced us immediately to the dibron—a kink-looking man, rather ad-aced beyond middle life, of manners singurgented and prepossessing. "Je suis le mier fou," said he throwing his arms out, he cowed on our entrance. We stood in oines, talking to himself with great appar-

passed without checking the motion of his

ay of a room marked as the kitchen, smiled sy of a room marked as the kitchen, someo-so as he came up, and fell into his train, ap-rently as much interested as ourselves in ie old man's explanation.

The kitchen was occupied by eight or ten opic all at work, and all, the baron assured, may One man, of about forty, was proil-ga steak with gravest attention. Another, to had been furious till employment was ren him, was chopping meat with violent dastry in a large wooden bowl. Two or ree gris were about obeying the little orders

The baron mildly called him by name, on the baron milely called him by hance, and mentioned to him as a piece of informathat he had wet the floor. He no ded a head, and filled his bucket quietly, pour-

a little into one of the pans, and resumed

We passed from the kitchen into an open art, curiously paved, and ornamented with hinese grottoes, artificial rocks, trees, cot-ges and fountains. Within the grottoes rened figures of wax before the altar of one, tel up as a Chinese chapel, a mandarin was strated in prayer. The walls on every e were painted in perspective acenery, and whole had as little the air of a prison as e open valley itself. In one of the corners ong man was entirely absorbed in thatching ecciling with strips of cane. The paron unted to him, and said he had been incura-

e till he had this employment for him. E-art thing about us, too, he assured us, was work of his patients. They had paveil a court, built the grottnes and cottages, and inted the walls, under his direction. The cret of his whole system, he said, was em-

Palermo June 28.

MO.

BY N. P. WILLIS.

CIRCULATING HIBRARY
THE Proprietor of this work, sanosis tify his readers to as gives an extent means will allow, respectfully annotice by public that the very fibrary patroagy of received has enabled him to add a new lease to this periodical, which he believes cases to prove interesting and valuable.

The Journal of Belles Lettrix, the ing three to four pages of additional new look, will be given every week as an account on the containty of the Circulating Library, and containts.

intent to the Circulating Library, as a containt.

1. Early reprints of the reviews and ask of new books, from the weekly and new periodical press of London, &c. Thereis will be careforly selected with reference to imparting correct information respectively. The new books as are reprinted in American to convey literary intelligence in reprinted works which rarely first their way arms & Atlantic. As great exertions will send make this department instructive and restaining, the proprietor is consider thailing to considered an important addition, by some first proprietor and the calculation of which his numerous subscribers will be quently avoid the *xpense of purchasing a books as are printed on the calculation their titles or the reputation of their are will self the edition. This part of the land will embrace a considerable amount demands. will embrace a considerable amount dera to minimize a considerable amount deright on new books of travels, memoirs, beging movels, and in fact present a bird's eight of new publications, early diffused thrud Union, by means of the facilities of males.

The London Literary Gazette willbert for this purpose, while the "Critical News of the Lamon Morropolitan, the Mea-New Mon hiv, the Geneleman's, Blacked Tant's, Edinburgh, H. ser's, and oner My Zines, already regularly received by heric will be freely used.

2. Varieties, embracing literary angles learned transactions store united fire and every species of information items to love; of reading, with occasional prom us of the numberous departments of oud ast , and are now published in sed journal in America.

3. A legular list of the new books poss ad to progress in Bondon and Amenda.

4 Occas anal original notices of new la rican publications, with extracts entering prominent features of excellence of hect. No additional charge will be making great increase of reading matter. It he contained on the pages of the contained the pages of the contained the subject subscribed eccurse their numbers by mail to no additional contained to the subject subscribed the subject subscribed to the subject subje A: WALER

Several applications having been said inscertain the manner to which the original portainent of notices of new books will be directed, we rike the keepent early apparent of staring that, at least they shall make our readers by the notice of the passport to praise, when the merits of the do not warrant it; so that our readers by assured of two things; Frst—bask shall not noticed the next day after they are troited and, secondly, they shall not be reveriful force they have been read. We have not road to profiling, and will be the lensity time felore, to fall into the error of an make wight, who, in his anxiety to be the first and the bellows of criticism read the preference of a duodection, and gravely entered has probation of two chapters which, information for the preference to them had beneated a contract of the preference to them had beneated a proposition of two chapters which, information of two chapters which, information of the preference to them had beneated as the preference to them had beneated as the preference to the preference t the prefatory reference to them had become the predicated worse than that of the London edicornitional some passages of Cooke's achieve found when he rose next merains, and had not was all over London, that the particles of the sone Gehnical The prospectus, and some fechnical in the always attending the first is see did journal, make the present humber but a prospection. pecimen of its future propise. July 4.

For the rest, time must develope error, and our capabilities; in cases where he courses of the trade is not extended a journal, unlike most of ar cotemprane.

FOR ANNAPOLIS CAMBRIDGE

.. 311

tent

E.

RYLAND, comes
the route on TES
the 9th inst. learns

Wharf, at 7 o'cinck. A. M. for Asserting the Oth inst. letting lower end of Distriction of the Cambridge by Castle Haven, and Estas it return from the Eastern Shore on extra nesslay and Saturday, leaving Eastes it M. by Castle Haven and Annapolis. Commence, her Chestertown Trip on 22d April. leaving Baltimore at 6 o'clock. return the same day, leaving Chestertess o'clock; calling at Corsica wharf, for the treville massengers.

treville passengers

N. B. All baggage at the owners in Passage to a from Easton or Cambridge Passage to Cresterhown or Corsida.

Passage to Chesterhown or Corsida.

Children under 12 years of are hill pro-LEM<sup>1</sup> b. G. TAYLOR May 2 ployment and constant kindness. He had performed, the bride was crowned, and car-usually about one hundred and fifty patients, and dismissed upon an average two thirds of covered gradually the use of her limbs, her them quite recovered.

We went into the apartment of the women. T THE BRICK BUILDING ON THE PUB-

spinning, while one infuriated creature, not more than thirty, but quite gray, was walking up and down the floor, talking and gesticulating with the greatest violence. A young circumstances the baron had succeeded in girl of sixteen, an attendant, had entered inately round her waist, assented to every thing dearment while endeavouring to silence her. ing with passion, her eyes glaring terribly, and her tongue white and trembling, she con-The baron give a corder to a male attendant at the dorr, and beckening us to follow, led her gently through a small court planted with trees, to a room containing a hammock. See ent columns of the portice sat some half do the door, and beckoning us to follow, led her gently through a small court planted with checked her torrent of language as she observed the preparations going on, and seemed a mused with the idea of swing g. The man every thing but her head, and the female at the maniac attempted to resume the subject of her rayings, but the girl bugle on her lare and diverted her from it, till at last she smi-ed and dropping her head into the him lock.

We left her swinging and went out into the gowns of the establishment were walking up thought. One with a fine, intelligent face, out speaking. The physician f the establishment joined meat the more ent and asked her what she wished. 'To kiss his band,' said she that his looks for a cine.' She coloured deeply, and folded her arms across her breast walked away. The baron called us, and in going out I passed her again, and taking her hand, kissed it and bade her good by had better kiss my lips, 's aid she, you'll never see me again.' She laid her to chead against the iron bars of the gate, with a face working with emotion, watched us till we for her history. Ht was a common case, for her history." said he. she was the daughter of a Sailian confinement had driven her mad. She is now a charity patient in the asylum.

The courts in which these poor creatures the females. In passing a cell, a large ma-jestic woman strided out with a theatrical air, be cowed on our entrance. We stood in and commenced en address to the Deity, in open court, surrounded with portices lin-with stone seats. On one of them lay a find-sent looking man, in clean gray off, but excitement had given them additional dilation and fire, and she looked a prophe tess. Her action, with all its energy, was la-dy like. Her feet half covered with slippers were well formed and slight, and she had every mark of superiority both of birth and en-The baron took her by the hard with the deferential courters of the old school. and led her to one of the stone scate. She vielded to him politely, but resumed her harangue, upbraiding the Deity, as well as I could understand her for her misfortunes. They succeeded in southing her by the assisaccompanies the other to the hammock, and she sat still, with her lies white and trembling like an aspen. While the good old baron was endervooring to draw begints a quiet converwhen a girl. Her mind had been destroyed by an illness, and after seven years' madness, during which she had refused to raise from ner bed and had quite lost the use of her imbs, she was brought to the e-tablishmen by her friends Experiments were tried in vain to induce her to move from her painful position. At last the baron determined upon addressing what he considered the master passion in all female bosoms. He dressed himself in the gayest manner, and, in one of her gentle moments, entered her room with respectful ceremony and affered himself to her in marriage! She refused him with scorn, and with sceming emotion he begged forgiveness and left her. The next morning on his entrance, she smiled—the first time for years. He continued his attentions for a day or two, and after a little connerry she one morning innounced to him that she re-considered his announced to him that she re-considered his proposal, and would be his bride. They raised her from her bed to prepare her for the ceremony, and she was carried in a chair to the garden where the bridal feast was spread, nearly all the other patients of the hospital being present. The galety of the scene absorbed the attention of all; the unnost decor am prevaileus and when the ceremony was health is improved, and excepting an occasional parbayem, such as we happened to wit-These, he said, were his worst subjects. In ness, she is quiet and contented. The other the first room sat eight or ten employed in inmates of the asylum still call her the bride; calming her, and she sat with her arms folded dignified and silent. He was still holding her hand, when the woman whom we had left swinging in the hammock, came stealing up behind the trees on tip toe, and putting her When the baron entered, the poor creature hand suddenly over the biron's eyes, kissed addressed herself to him; and seemed delight-him on both sides of his face, laughing heared that he had come. He made several mild tilv, and calling him by every name of affec-attempts to check her, but she seized his tion. The contrast between this mood and ban's, and with the seins of her throat swell- the infuriated one in which we found her, was the best comment on the good man's system He gently disengaged himself, and apologised followed him to another apartment zen patients. A young man of eighteen, with a very pale, scholar like face, was reading Ariosto. Near him, under the direction of took her up in his arms without resistance. I an attendant, a fair, delicate girl, with a sadness in her soft blue eyes that might have been studied for a mater lolorosa, was cutting paste tendant, one of the most playful and prepos-sessing little creatures I ever saw, stood on a cid secreely conscious of what she was about ch ir, and at every swing threw a little wa- and when I approached and spoke to her, she ter on her face as if in sport O e or twice, laid down the knife and rested her head upon her hand, and looked, at me steadily, as i she was trying to recollect where she had known me. I cannot remember, 'she said seemed disposed to sink into an easy sleep. I howed to her as we took our leave, and she returned it gracefully but coldly. The young man looked up from his book and smiled, the old man lying on the stone seat in the outer and we were bowed out by the baron and his gentle maiden as politely and kindly as if we were concluding a visit to a company of

> THE EARTHQUAKE AT ARICA. We have been favoured with the perusal of let' r, received in town from a gentleman Lime, containing an interesting account of the great earthquake at Arica an! Tacua, as witnessed by his correspondent at the latter place. The following extracts will be read, doubtless, with interest.

Tacua 18th Nept. 1833.—We were this morning visited by one of the most fearful earthquakes which this city has ever experi-enced, the consequences of which have been noble, who too poor to marry her to one of her dreadful, both in the destruction of property own rank, had sent her to a convent, where and of lives. It occurred about six o'clock, while most of the people were in bed, and was followed in a quarter of an hour after ware s by another not quite so strong, but said to have been as bad as that at Caracas where are confined, open upon a large and lovely to have been as bad as that at Caracas where garden. We walked through it with the bison and then returned to the apartments of the first large and large hasted half a minute or more. Had it con-tinued a few seconds longer, or had it taken place during the night or on any of the festival occasions, when the churches are generally filled, half of the population must have perished; as it was many inder their houses, and in the churches while at mass. eeting of the Cabildo, who have ordered all the houses in the least degree dangerous to be pulled down. The soldiers are now employ ed in this duty, and have already disinterred a number of bodies principally females and chileren, from the ruins. Several persons were taken from their houses from holes made in the walls, the door being firmly closed, and others who were crushed beneath the fallen materials, were taken out more dead than alive. I witnessed a number of most affecting scenes, husbands replied of wives and children, who were bruised and disfigured in the most shocking manner. One woman with her child, were found wrapt together in a sense of the population of Lowell. It would be a likely erecting the most shocking manner. One woman with her child, were found wrapt together in a ende vooring to craw he har a qu'et conversation the physician told one some curious circumstances respecting her. She was a lock a small bucket and want to the physician told one some curious circumstances respecting her. She was a

lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a
lock a small bucket and want to get her in a lock a smal of the church, classed in each others arms, having resigned thus to their fate, when prevented from escaping. It is lamentable, that the loss of many lives was occasioned by the ignorance and superstition of the people, who remained in the churches for greater safety remained in the churches for greater safety. The sub-prefect was out of town, but arrived at twelve o'clock, and is using every means to mitigate the consequences of this sad catastrophe. The foreigners, however, had in the mean time opened a subscription for the relief of the poorest sufferers, and a list has been filled, including the whole of them at one to three doubloons each, which will amount to something handsome. The loss of property has been every great; and in this property has been very great; and in this place alone it is estimated at from 2 to 300,-00 dollars. Indted I should suppose more, for scarcely a house has escaped without more or less injury. The number of bodies found are about twenty, but there are about 500 cart loads'of rubbish to be removed yet from the ruins of the church, which will take some time. However, there are few missing now ant d habitable house remaining—two lives lost—only, which is so far consulatory. The elegant new Custom House, which has just been finished at a great expense is reduced to ruins We are all thankful, deeply thankful to the Almighty for our preservation; none of the victim- are foreigners. The merchants which their debtors are reduced; no business of the purchasers from Arequipa. Moquique. Cochobamba and other parts of the interior have started off to see how their families have Calana, Pochia, Lama, Loumba, and other towns we have yet heard from, have suffered equally with ourselves in proportion to their size; in the latter the whole of the last year's wine has been lost, by the vessels We have had a succession of shocks since to the number of twenty already, and cannot remain in our houses a moment without the greatest apprehension. We anxiouswant the particulars of this disastro's earthquake from other parts of the country, over which it must have extended generally.

N. Bedford Mercury. From Hood's Comic Annual.

JOHNSONIA. 'Do you really believe, Dr. Johnson,' said a Latchfield lady, in the dead walking after death? Madam, said Johnson, I have no oubt on the subject; I have heard the Dead March in Saul.' You really believe, then, the tor, in ghosts? 'Madam,' said Johnson, I think appearances are in their favour.'

The Doct or was notoriously very supersti tous. The same lady once asked him-of he ever felt any presentiment at a winding sheet in the candle? 'Madam,' said Johnson. death, and that somebody will go out like snoff; but whether at Ha apton Wick, or in Greece, must depend upon the graves.'
Dr. Johnson was not comfortable in the Hebrines. "ray, Doctor, how do you see ; equired a benevolent Scotch hostess, who was so extremely hospitable that some hun-treds always occupy the same bed. •M dam' and Johnson, I had not a wink the whole night long, sleep seemed to fice from my eyelids, and to bug from all the rest of my bo-

The Doctor and Boswell once lost themsaid they must spier their way at the first noail I meet.

What do you think of whiskey, Dr Johnof wool are used per annum.

The quantity of wool manufactured annuou? hiccupped B -will, after emptying a sixth tumbler of today. Sir, said the Doc-tor, it penetrates my very soul like the small still voice of conscience, and doubtless. The Lowell Carpet Minufactory is in it-preserve you in battle, and especially your nether limbs. You may grow a walking stick thousand dollars per annum. At Dunsinane the old prejudice broke out, - So, said he to Boswell, Macboth was an thought to have known that every wood m Scotland mig t be carried in a man's hand.

The Scotch sir, are like the frogs in the fa-on the moral and religious character of his countrymen, and remarked triumphantly that there was a Cathedral at Kirkwall, and the

of nothing but howdars, doolies, and bunga-lows, till the Doctor took, as usual to stiffin.'
Madam, said he, in a tone that would bave 'Madam, said he, in a tone that would have scared a tiger out of a jungle, 'India is very well for a rubber or for a bandam, or cake of ink; but what with its Shurtpore, Pahlumpore, Barrackpore, Hyderapore, Singpore and Nagnare; its Hyderabad, Astrabad, Bundlebad, Sinbad, and Guzzarathidbad, its a roon and an accountry alterether.' BAD country altogether.'

Master M. after plaguing Miss Seward and Dr. Darwin, and a large tea party at Litch-field, said to his mother that he would be good if she would give him an apple. My dear child, said the parent feeling herself in the presence of a great moralist, 'you' ought not to be good on any consideration of gain, for 'virtue is its own reward.' You ought to be good disinterestedly, and without thinking what you are to get for it ' Madam,' said Dr. Johnson, 'you are a fool; would you have the boy good for nothing?'

The same lady once consulted the Doctor of the degree of turpitude to be attached to her son's robbing an orchard. Midam,' 'il circulation last night of the total fall of Arica, | remember my school-fellow, David Garricki zen of orchards with impunity; but the very first time I climbed up an apple tree, for I was always a heavy boy, the bough broke with me, and it was called a judgment. I sup-pose that's why Justice is represented with Caleb Whiteford, the famous punster, once inquired seriously of Dr. Johnson, whether he really considered that a man ought to be transported, like Barrington, the bick pocket for being guilty of a double me ming? Sir, said Johnson, of a man means well, the more he means the better.

From the People's Mazazisco

LOWELL.
Lowell, the American Manchester, is situated at the confluence of Merrimack and Concord rivers, twenty-five miles northwest from Boston. This town received its name from Francis C. Lowell, of Boston, who was itstinguished by his successful efforts in introducing the cotton manufacture in the United States. The place is undoubtedly destined to be a great manufacturing city.

The growth of Lowell for a few years past has been almost unparrallelled. The founda-1822, at which time, the land now included in the town, exclusive of one factory establistment, contained less than one hundred in-

It may not be uninteresting to our readers to learn the state of the monufactures of cot-ton and wollen Goods in Lowell at the pre-sent time. We are indebted to the Journal of that place for the following statistical remarks:

marks:

'The whole amount of capital at present invested, is $6,150,000. The number of large mills in actual operation is unetcen. These mills are each about one hundred and fifty-seven feet to length and forty-five in breadty-of brick, five stories high, each story averaging from ten to thirteen feet high thus giving apportunity for a free circulation of air. The aggregate number of spinoies used is 84,000—tooms 5000. The whole num-ber of operatives employed is about 5000, of which 1200 are males, 3800 are females. The quantity of raw cotton, used in these mills per annum, exceeds 8,000,000 pounes or 20,-000 bales. The num et of yards of cotton goods of various qualties manufactured annually is about 27,000,000. Were the difaid they must expier their way at the first only they met. Series and they met. Series and the first only they must experie the first only they met. Series and they must experie the first only they met. Series and they must experie the first only they met. Series and they must experie their way at the first only they met. Series and they must experie their way at the first only they met. Series and they must experie the first only they met. Series and they must experie the first only they met. Series and they met. out I am not going to run a- Nuck and tile at mixed cotton and woolen negro clothing, in rm of the still is the worm that never self a curiosity. Sixty else tooms are kept Boswell afterwards enquired the Doc- in operation by hand buour, viz: fifty for inthe great moralist would act in an affray be tween the Smugglers and the Excise. If I went by the letter of the law, I should assist the Customs, but a cording to the spirit, I should assist the Contrabands?

The Dutter was always personal trial of which will vie with any imported. The tor's opinion on illicit distillation, and how grained or Kidderminster corporting, ten for the great moralist would act in an affray be Boussels and eight for rugs of various kinds. The Doctor was always very satirical on the want of timber in the North. Sire, said he to the young Laird of Icombally, who was going to join his regiment, may Providence sent employed in all these mills esceive for mill in operation. One other is erected which will be in operation in a short time. toundation of two others are laid which will on Scotland might be carried in a man's hand.

The Scotch sir, are like the frogs in the factor, are like the frogs in the factor, are like they would make a king of it.

The Scotch sir, are like the frogs in the factor, are like will contain about 16,500 additional spindles for cotton, and 350 looms, and will use 2,500,000 lbs. of raw cotton annually, furnishing employment for 700 operatives. These three mills will probably be the means of adding at least one thou-and five hundred to the population of East Iudia Company is the worst of all company. A lady from Calcutta once endeain length, by forty six, and six stores high.

Nearly one million of bricks have been used in its construction. It contains 2,880 spind les, and sixty four loums for cassimers, and forty for broad cloths. It works up about 300,000 lbs. of wool annually, and employs about two hundred and seventy five operatives.

The edifice, in which all the machinery employed in the mills is manufactured, is termed the 'Machine Shop,' belonging to the Locks and Canal Company, and is probably the largest shop' in the coursey, being built' of brick, four stories high, two hundred and twenty feet in length and forty-five feet in width. About two hundred machinists, some of them the most skilful and ingenious work-men in the United States, or in the world, are constantly employed. About six hun-dred tons of cast and wrought iron, two-thirds of which at least are of American production, are annually converted into machiners, besides a large quantity of imported steel.

sand tons of Anthracite coal are annually sand tons of Anthracite coal are annually consumed in the Lowell Manufacturing Sept. 19th: By the post this morning, we her son's robbing an orchard. Madam,' 'it consumed in the Lowell Manufacturing as have received a confirmation of the report in all depends upon the weight of the boy. I stablishments and Machine Shop, besides im-