So the question was resolved in the affirmative, and the bill being also passed by this house, was returned to the senate.

The house, according to the order of the day, also proceeded to consider the bill, reported by Mr. John W. Thomas, entitled. An act authorising the governor and council of this state to appoint inspectors of salted fish for the city of Baltimore, and for other purposes; and the subject having been debated, the question was propounded, Shall the said bill pass? Resolved in the affirmative, and so the bill was passed.

The house then adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

THURSDAY, January 18, 1827.

The house met. Were present the same members as on yesterday. The proceedings of yesterday were read.

The clerk of the senate having yesterday delivered the following message from that body, it was announced by the Speaker and read, viz.

By the Senate, January 17, 1827.

Gentlemen of the House of Delegates,

We have received your message of this morning in relation to the library of the state, and concur in the adoption of the course you have proposed for its gradual increase and preservation. We
