An ACT for the sale of certain lands and houses belonging to the free-school in the city of Annapolis, called King William school. Lib. BLC. fol. 508.

WH E R E A S the rector and visitors of the free-school in the city of Annapolis, called King William school, are seized in their incorporated and political capacity of a parcel of land in Dorchester county, called Surveyor's Forest, containing six hundred and fifty acres, devised to them in and by the last will and testament of Thomas Smithson, late of Talbot county, Esquire, deceased, which land brings in no annual profit, but on the contrary the quit-rent of it arising due to the lord proprietary is an annual charge; and that the said rector and visitors are likewise seized of several houses and lots in Annapolis, which houses and lots are upon leases, rendering some small rent, yet such rent is not equal to the interest of the money which the rectors and visitors hope the said lots and houses might sell for: And whereas the chief support of the said school at present is the interest of a sum of money bequeathed by the honorable Benedict Leonard Calvert, Esquire, late governor of Maryland, deceased, for supporting the same; and that the said rector and visitors conceive it would be advantageous to the said school to sell and dispose of the said land, houses and lots, and to apply the money arising by such sale, or the interest thereof, to support the same school;

Preamble.
