 frankly, that she wondered that he should pay to Coll Tailor the publick due from her father, for the Burgers' Custom, and that if he would but pay it when father he would be better satisfied; to which the said frankly replied, and shew'd her to be quiett, that he had been rais'd enough about it; but when he had done all that he could to - satisfy Coll Tailor, he should still be in his debt twenty thousand pounds of Tobacco: And for any goods that her P. husband M^r. frankly should bring home to her, she know not of any more than to the value of about 2 thousands of tobacco or thereabouts, and further saith not
