

5
Annals the conclusions to which you shall come, the most profound respect, and that your Measures may rely upon the cordial co-operation of the Executive, to render efficient the Measures which you may devise, to re-establish the public credit, and promote the public good.

Thomas G. Pratt