1132. ~~As soon~~ very shortly, the Regiment shall be marched with the utmost Expedition to reinforce the Southern Army, agreeably to your Excellency's Orders. We beg your Excellency to be assured that every thing shall be done on our Part to give Efficiency to your Orders and facilitate the March of the Troops to the Place of Destination.

1133. Sir We request you to forward to the Head of Elk all the Silver & Iron you have on Hand, reserving about 300 Bushels of the latter. As Mr. Richardson will have Occasion to forward Flour, we recommend it to you to consult with him and to embrace the first Opportunity, when you have Reason to think the Navigation is open safe. When there is an Opportunity, we shall forward you a Sum of the new Money. If you cannot discharge your old Debts with it, we hope you will make it answer in your future Transactions and we will supply you with other Money when it is in our Power, for what is already done

1134. Gent. At the last Session of Assembly, so much of the Act to prohibit for a limited Time, the Exportation of Provisions, was repealed as prohibited the Exportation of any of the Articles enumerated in the said Act by Land. We apprehend there is no Necessity for giving you the desired Permission, as there is nothing in the existing Law which restrains you from exporting Flour to Philadelphia by Land. We flatter ourselves you will conduct yourselves in the Execution of this Business, with the Degree of Caution and Discretion which is necessary to prevent a Competition with other public Purchasers of Flour

1135. Sir We enclose you an Order on Mr. Solms for what Money & Tobacco he has received as a Commissioner of Loans, & will forward by the first Opportunity, some of the new Money. The pressing Demands for Provision for the Army require that what is procured be forwarded as soon as you have Reason to believe the Navigation of the Bay is safe. Our Boats are now down among the Tangier Islands, and a considerable Fleet of Merchantmen have lately gone down from Baltimore
