

The clerk of the house of delegates delivered the following message:

By the House of Delegates, March 9th, 1827.

Gentlemen of the Senate,

We sent you a bill on yesterday, entitled, an act to impose and collect a tax upon such parts of the estates of persons as escape taxation under the existing laws of this state, in which we have discovered an omission.—We therefore request that you will return the bill to this house, that the correction may be made.

By order,

Gideon Pearce, Clerk.

Mr. Nelson offered the following message, which was read, assented to, and sent to the house of delegates.

By the Senate, March 9, 1827.

Gentlemen of the House of Delegates,

The senate have received your message, asking the return of the bill, entitled, "an act to impose and collect a tax upon such parts of the estates of persons as escape taxation under the existing laws of this state, and in compliance therewith, return the same.

By order,

Wm. Kilty, Clk.

The bill to incorporate the Maryland Savings Institute, was read the third time, amended, passed with the proposed amendment, and sent to the house of delegates.

Mr. Heath offered the following message, which was read, assented to, and sent to the house of delegates.

By the Senate, March 9th, 1827.

Gentleman of the House of Delegates,

The senate propose, with the concurrence of your honorable body, to appoint a joint committee of the two houses to examine and ascertain, whether there be any, and if any, what business now before the legislature, which the public interest imperiously require should be acted upon during the present session. The senate are induced to take this step from an anxious desire to terminate the session as speedily as possible, and yet to leave unfinished, no resource calculated to promote the public prosperity and happiness.

The senate name on their part, Messrs. Heath and Harrlson, to compose their committee.

By order,

William Kilty, Clerk

The clerk of the house of delegates delivered the following message.