

and with the circumstances of our people would justify this house in acceding to the salaries proposed by the senate. If time will permit we shall attempt to provide particular funds to secure the payment of the salaries established by our bill. It will always be in the power, as it will certainly be in the inclination, of the legislature, to make such alterations in the present salaries as the ability of government will permit.

As the chancellor must necessarily have great trouble, from the number of disputes relative to the grant of lands, we are willing to make him compensation, and to add a clause to the bill for the civil list, allowing him the sum of ——— for the next year.

This house will consent to limit the number of judges in the court of appeals, and that when any vacancy may happen, the number shall not exceed three, until the abilities of the state will justify an increase of the establishment.

We accede to your proposed conference on the bill to prevent the exportation of unmerchanta-ble tobacco, and with the conference to confer on several other important matters necessary to be done at this session; and we have nominated Messrs. Chase, Brice Worthington, Dent, Digges, and Fielder Bowie, to join the gentlemen appointed by the senate.

By order,

W. HARWOOD, clk.

Which was read.

On the second reading the said message, the question was put, That the following words be struck out? "We are willing to make him compensation, and to add a clause to the bill for the civil list, allowing him the sum of ——— for the next year?" Resolved in the affirmative.

On progression in reading the said message, the question was put, That the chancellor be allowed, in compensation for his trouble relative to the grants of lands, £. 250 current money for the next year? The yeas and nays being called for by Mr. Oneale appeared as follow:

A F F I R M A T I V E.
