The Eye.—Persons troubled with weak or defective eyes, we would respectfully call the attention of, to the Patent Ivory Eye Tubes, advertised by Mr. B. C. Biddle, of Pivot Bridge. These instruments are highly spoken of by men learned in the science of Optics, and we should think that any person afflicted with an affection of the eye, would be anxious to make a trial of their virtues without delay.

Phrenology and Psychology.—Professor Cowan's lectures that began last evening in the Odd Fellows' Hall, promise to be highly instructive. It will afford more than an ordinary entertainment to all christians to hear his lectures upon the mysteries of the soul, in which he promises to explain how Christ wrought miracles upon earth; how the universe was brought into existence; how God controls his creatures; how man's soul connects with and moves the body, &c. Illustrated by wonderful experiments in mesmerism. These moves the body, &c. Illustrated by won-derful experiments in mesmerism. These lectures meet with general success.

A Centenarian.-Richard Hinton, a colored man, residing in Port Deposit, was registered last week, and gave his age 112 registered last week, and gave his age 112 years. Some of his acquaintances place his age at 118, and others as high as 122 years. He does not know his age, exactly. Our informant says: "After he was registered he walked out of the register's office and down the street as though he were not more than eighty. He was much delighted, saying although he had lived so many years, he never 'felt like a man among men' till that day." Wonderful, magical power is freedom, with her unapproachable prerogatives. He was a slave for sixty years or upward.

The Autibiography of John B. Gough.—
Rev. S. Logan, of Charlestown is at present canvassing the county for subscriptions to this intensely interesting book. All who have heard of the great Temperance Lecturer will have a desire to read the account of his life and personal recollections, as jortrayed by himself. The subscription price of this remarkable volume is from $3.25 to $4.50. Those who let the present opportunity escape without procuring this deeply interesting work may regret in future, the neglect which deprived them of a source of much entertaining as well as useful knowledge, as the algorithm of the subscription is formed as the county of the county in the county is supposed to this town by J. Sabbath School Celebration.—The annual celebration of Monroe Sundays school was held in Krauss' grove, near West Nottingham, on Saturday last. The day was passed very pleasantly by all the children present. A good share of good advice was given them by their minister and teachers, and some singing, and music by the R. S. C. Band, made up the entertainment of the day. A bountful dinner was provided for all present.

Only one thing is lacking in this school, and that is a common trouble; a few parents and teachers are expected by some to mould the morals of the young, while the great majority of the parents spend their Sabbaths in slothful idleness, to the utter neglect of their offspring.

Attention Farmers I—You are now shipping your produce to market, or if not you should be, for every day grain lies in the garner it wastes; besides you are always in danger of losing the product of a season's toil by fire in a single hour. To you who propose shipping grain to Baltimore, and placing it in the hands of a Commission Merchant, we can recommend Mr. F. E. Marine, No., 53, W. Pratt Street, as the man who will get full value for your produce and remit promptly—the latter being a very important consideration. Mr. Maric has a very important very im

A Public Benefactor.—We know of no man who has contributed more toward the improvement of our town, in the comparatively short time he has been a citizen of the place, than Mr. D. E. Burton. In that time he has built several houses mostly of the better class, but his crowning achievement in this department of improvement, is his new storehouse just completed. No other store on the Eastern Shore will begin to compare with it. It is constructed on the most improved modern style, with an entire glass front, the wood work being handsomely walnut grained by one of the best grainers in the city of Philadelphia. The opening through the upper floor extends nearly the length of the store, surrounded by a balustrade and reached by a broad flight of steps in the rear. A Public Benefactor.-We know of no

Theft of a Pocket-Book.—Miss Mary McCullough, daughter of Hon. II. McCullough, of Elkton, lost her pocket-book, containing $15, in the cars, on Wednesday afternoon last. The book was lying in her alap. When the cars stopped at Wilmington, she moved to the seat on the opposite side, to speak to a lady friend, when the missing purse fell on the floor, it is supposed. The next moment, the lady who remained in the seat, and was looking through the car window, had her attention attracted by a man who stepped forward tried: through the car window, had her attention attracted by a man who stepped forward as if to occupy the seat, but immediately passed on. Large Yield of Corn.—Mr. Joseph R. Thomas, of Woodlawn, sends us the following account of an immense yield of corn. It would be of interest to the public to know what variety of corn produced this large crop, and how manured and cultivated:

"I have just husked a lot of corn. The lot is 107 yards by 27 yards. Product, 45 barrels. I had one barrel shelled, and it made 1\frac{1}{2} bushels. Mr. Waring made the calculation and finds it to be 7-12 of an arcr. Yield at the rate of 114 bushels per acre. The lot was small, and it grow under the shade of four large locust, three large cherry trees, and an orchard across one female Doctor offering her services to the Warnels and the court and Bar, and resolutions of condolnes passed by his brother members, as fellows:
