PLAIN FACTS WORTH READING.

A large, well established and successful business, with an experience of more than twenty-five years, enable us to offer inducements to all who are about to become purchasers of second to no establishment in the country. Our garments are all made of the best materials, carefully selected; nothing unsound or in any way imperfect is made up at all, even in the lowest grades of goods. It is a well established fact among clothiers, that our Ready-Made Clothing, in every thing that goes to make a superior garment, is unequalled by any stock of goods in Philadelphia.

☞Our assortment is so large and varied that every one can be fitted at once, without delay. Our prices are always guaranteed as low, or lower, than the lowest elsewhere. We have also a fine assortment of which will be made up to order, in the best manner, and at prices much lower than are usually charged for garments made to order.

☞Samples of goods, with price lists for all kinds of garments, forwarded by mail at any time when requested, with instructions for self-measurement, and garments, either made to order or selected from our Ready-Made Stock, forwarded by express, guaranteed to fit correctly.

Persons not residing here, can when visiting Philadelphia, call and have their measure registered on our books kept for that purpose, from which garments can be ordered at any future time.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Valuable Books for Farmers and Stock Breeders.

N. P. Boyer & Co., Parkesburg, Chester county, Pa., have issued five pamphlets, which contain many valuable hints and much useful instruction for those who raise stock. The price is 25 cents each. We have made arrangements to send one of these manuals free to each of our new subscribers or old ones, who renew and pay in advance.

"The Horseman's Manual," teaches you how to breed, break and doctor horses, and gives much other valuable information important to horse owners.

"The Dairyman's Manual" is a valuable treatise on cows and their products, and is filled with useful information for those in the dairy business or those who contemplate starting in this business.

"The Sheep and Goat Breeder's Manual" contains all the information necessary to become a successful breeder of these valuable animals, and gives a description of the sheep of different breeds, and also of the Cashmere or Angora Goat, with the directions for rearing, &c.

"The Hog Breeder's Manual" is a valuable compilation of facts for the raising and fattening of this much abused quadruped, and if the suggestions are followed will enable the reader to make this branch of farm industry profitable.

"The Poultry Breeder's Manual" gives a description of the various breeds of fowls, their good points, how to raise them, the diseases to which they are subject, and how to treat them. Also chapters on Pigeons, Rabbits, Dogs and Birds.

Messrs. N. P. Boyer & Co., are publishers of "The American Stock Journal" and among the largest and most successful importers and breeders of choice Blooded Stock in this country, which gives these little pamphlets a reliability they would not otherwise possess.

Premium Hams.

The following recipes for curing 1,000 pounds pork hams took the several premiums offered by the Maryland State Agricultural Society at its exhibition in 1868:

First Premium.—Mix 2½ lbs. saltpeter, finely powdered, ½ busel fine salt, 3 lbs. brown sugar, ½ gallon molasses. Rub the meat with the mixture; pack with skin down. Turn over once a week, and add a little salt. After being down 3 to 4 weeks, take out, wash, and hang up 2 or 3 weeks, until it is dry. Then smoke with hicory wood 3 or 4 weeks; then bag, or pack away in a cool place—not a cellar—in chaff or hay. Examine occasionally, and renew dry packing material.—Thomas Love.

Second Premium.—The meat after being cut out must be rubbed, piece by piece, with very finely powdered saltpeter, on the flesh side, and where the leg is cut off, a tablespoonful (not heaped) to each ham, a dessert spoonful to each shoulder, and about half that quantity to each middling and jowl; this must be rubbed in. Then salt it, by packing a thin coating of salt on the flesh side of the piece, say a half inch thick, pack the pieces on a scaffolding, or on a floor with strips of plank laid a few inches apart all over it, (that is, under the meat); the pieces must be laid skin side down, in the following order; 1st layer, hams; 2d, shoulders; 3d. jowls; 4th, middlings—take the spare-ribs out of the middlings. If the hogs are very fat, pare the fat carefully from the flesh side of the ham. The meat must not be frozen. It must lie in this wise: six weeks, if the weather is mild, eight if very cold—the brine being allowed to run off freely. The smoking is an entirely different matter, and will require personal instructions to the persons entrusted with the smok-making.—J. Howard McHenry.

Third Premium.—½ bushel of fine salt, 3 pounds brown sugas, 2½ pounds of saltpeter, ½ gallon best molasses. Mix those ingredients together, then rub each piece well with the mixture, until all be absorbed. The meat must be taken out of the pickle once a week for six weeks; the two first times the meat is taken out, there is to be a plate of alum salt added to the pickle which the meat makes—Mrs. Wm. H. Marriott, Jr.

Fourth Premium.—2½ pounds saltpeter, dried and finely powdered, ½ bushel best Liverpool salt, 3 pounds brown sugar, and ½ gallon molasses. Mix in a vessel, rub the meat well with same, and pack with skin down. It should be turned occasionally, adding at the same time a little more salt.

The above is the exact amount required for 1,000 pounds of pork. After being in salt 3 to 4 weeks, take out, wash clean the pieces, dry, and hang it up for smoking. Three weeks is sufficient to smoke them thoroughly—by fire made of hickory wood. When smoked, take down and bag, or pack away in dry chaff or cut straw. Examine them occasionally, and if found to be at all damp, renew the packing with dry material. —Charles Jessop.

Oiling Farm Implements.

The Boston Cultivator gives the following sensible and practical advice to its readers:

"Every farmer should have a can of licensed oil and a brush on hand, and whenever he buys a new tool, he should soak it well with the oil and dry it by the fire or in the sun before using. The wood by this treatment is toughened and strengthened, and rendered impervious to water. Wet a new hay rake and when it dries it will begin to be loose in its joints; but if well oiled, the wet will have but slight effect. Shovels and forks are preserved from checking and cracking in the top of the handle by oiling; the wood becomes smooth as glass by use, and is far less liable to blister the hand when long used. Axe and hammer handles often break where the wood enters the iron; this part particularly should be toughed with oil to secure durability. Oiling the wood in the eye of the axe will prevent its swelling and shrinking, and sometimes getting loose. The tools on a large farm cost a heavy sum of money; they should be of the most approved kind. It is a poor economy, at the present extravagant prices of labor, to set men at work with ordinary old-fashioned implements. Laborers should be required to return the tools to the places provided for them; after using, they should be put away clean, bright, and oiled. The mold-boards of plows are apt to get rusty from one season to another, even if sheltered; they should be brushed over with a few drops of oil when put away, and they will then remain in good order until wanted.

Recipe for Curing Beef and Hams.—A correspondent of the Practical Farmer, at Bridgeton, N. J., noted for having a superior quality of dried beef and hams, sends at their request, his recipe, which he has used for more than 40 years, without a failure. It is as follows:

For every 100 lbs. of beef, 7 lbs. salt, 2 oz. saltpeter, 1½ lbs. brown sugar, 4 gals. water. Boil and skim, and pour over the meat when cold. If properly packed that amount of water will cover the meat.

For pork, pack the hams and shoulders together. To every 100 lbs. take 8 lbs. salt, 4 oz. saltpeter, 1½ lbs. sugar, 4 gals. water.

The hams and beef for drying may be taken out after four weeks. To keep the meat after warm weather, the pickle will have to be boiled.

Charlotte Russe.—Boil one ounce of gelatine in two tumblers of milk, and boil hard. Beat the whites and yolks separately of six eggs, adding to the yolks half a pound of loaf sugar, and stir them into the boiling milk long enough for them to thicken like a rich custard; then stir in the whites, beaten to a stiff froth. Season with vanilla. Whip in a pint of rich cream to a stiff froth, and stir into the custard. When cold arrange your cake in the mould and pour in the mixture. Set it on ice.

A Certain Cure for Colds.—A remedy never known to fail: five cents worth of licorice; five cents worth of rock candy; five cents worth of gumarabic. Put them in a quart of water, simmer them until thoroughly dissolved; then add five cents worth of paregoric, and a like quantity of antimonial wine. Let it cool, and sip whenever the cough is troublesome. It is pleasant, infallible, cheap and good.

Roads and Bridges.—Every tax payer should be made to understand, what was once uttered by DeWitt Clinton, that "every judicious improvement in the establishment of roads and bridges increases the value of land, enhances the price of commodities and augments the public wealth."

Doughnuts.—One cup of sugar; half cup of butter; 2 cups of sour cream; 1 teaspoonful of soda; 4 eggs; flour sufficient to roll out. Excellent.

These gentlemen are all well and favorably known as among the best commercial men in the State. This is THE ONLY MARYLAND COMPANY.
Its success has equalled the expectations of its most sanguine friends. Its rates and dividends compare with the oldest and best companies in the country. It is emphatically gotten up to afford opportunity for all to insure without sending money out of the State.
It must be clear to every intelligent mind, that if we would secure the largest prosperity to our State and the people individually, we must build up our institutions, by keeping capital at home.
The laws of trade, commerce, self-interest and self-respect combine to make this the Company for Marylanders.
Had the Five Million Dollars sent out of our State annually for insurance been invested at home it would have told favorably upon our own wealth and commerce.
We hope by care, prudence, economy and strict integrity, to merit and secure for the future as we have done in the past, the co-operation and patronage of the people in all parts of our State.
It is gratifying to all true friends of Maryland's interest that a great want of our State is supplied in the entire success of this Company.
