Whitewashing Superseded!

MAXWELL'S

PREPARED GYPSUM,

FOR

Whitening and Coloring Walls.

A BEAUTIFUL, DURABLE AND CHEAP ARTICLE.

To invent a substance which would supersede the old style of White washing, has long been the aim of the whole rubber, and a wish often expressed by house-keepers. That desideratum has at last been obtained, and it affords the inventor much pleasure that he can supply the public with a substitute, which, while it has all the good qualities of Lime, has none of its objectionable features.

The Gypsum gives the walls a brilliant gloss will not rub off, and is therefore more durable, is easily mixed, and costs no more than the common Lime, and its adhesive qualities are excellent; it is therefore in every respect unsurpassed by anything of the kind ever offered to the public. BONE DUST!

The subscriber has just erected at his farm, near the city, the most improved machinery for making BONE DUST, and is now ready to fill orders for any quantity, which will be delivered at the shortest notice.

The BONE DUST will be finer than any heretofore made by him (no chemical process resorted to) enabling the Farmer or Planter to sow it with the Drill.

MR. SAMUEL SANDS, well known to the Farmers and Planters of the United States as the former Editor of the American Farmer and Rural Register, will have charge of his office, No. 63 SOUTH GAY STREET, near Pratt, and will be happy to receive the visits or orders of his old friends.

$45 per ton, put in new bags. No charge for bags.

Farmers and others are invited to visit my works, I have nothing to conceal.

My men have nothing nice to perform, therefore I have no "upon admittance" signs on my premises.—Persons are free to examine my factory, and the modus operandi of Dust making.

I cannot afford to pay 5, 10 or 20 per cent. to commission merchants, as my profits do not exceed 10 per cent.

Bone Dust, as manufactured by me, is A simple, and to quality cannot be made to conform to the price.

These gentlemen are all well and favorably known as among the best commercial men in the State. This is

THE ONLY MARYLAND COMPANY.

Its success has equalled the expectations of its most sanguine friends. Its rates and dividends compare with the oldest and best companies in the country. It is emphatically gotten up to afford opportunity for all to insure without sending money out of the State.

It must be clear to every intelligent mind, that if we would secure the largest prosperity to our State and the people individually, we must build up our institutions, by keeping capital at home.

The laws of trade, commerce, self-interest and self-respect combine to make this the Company for Marylanders.

Had the Five Million Dollars sent out of our State annually for insurance been invested at home it would have told favorably upon our own wealth and commerce.

We hope by care, prudence, economy and strict integrity, to merit and secure for the future as we have done in the past, the cooperation and patronage of the people in all parts of our State.

It is gratifying to all true friends of Maryland's interest that a great want of our State is supplied in the entire success of this Company.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Co-operation Among Butter-Makers.

It is doubtful whether there is any branch of farming economy in which more advantage can be derived from co-operation than in the making of butter, unless it be the other department of darying, in which the benefit of co-operation is demonstrated by the numerous cheese-making associations.

Butter-making subjects the farmer's wife to the necessity of doing a great deal of labor, in which so much regularity is required, as to keep her almost a prisoner throughout the season; and this objection is becoming more and more serious with the embarrassments of the servant-girl question; dairy-work adding seriously to the drudgery of the household. Furthermore, the making of little messes of butter in all the farm houses of the country, fills the market with the streaky tubs of unsalable grease. So much is this the case, that really first-class butter is rarely seen on sale in New York, except in the hands of a few of the fancy grocers, who make an especial effort, and secure all the prime lots that are offered. It would really not be extravagant to say that all the butter in the New York market sells, on an average, for one-third less than it would if the quality was really excellent.

Good butter-makers know as well as we can tell them, that there are very few farm-houses in which the work of the dairy is done as it should be. From the first setting of the milk to the final packing for market, there is too little regularity, cleanliness, and thoroughness, and too great a disregard for the very important point of temperature, for the best results to be obtained. Those dairy-women who have the mortification of seeing their butter sold at the lowest market price, though they may be powerless to remedy the difficulty, will readily confess that a remedy is needed.

Let us suppose that ten farmers, living in the same neighborhood, keeping an average of ten cows each, join together in building a butter factory, with the necessary appliances—including horse-power churn, an ice-house, and a supply of cool water, suitable for the manufacture of 700 or 800 pounds of butter per week, or about 100 pounds per day in the hight of the season. The buildings need not be expensive, nor need any of the fixtures. The whole establishment should be under the control of a capable person, who should take pains to inform himself, as thoroughly as possible, on every branch of the business. He should be paid by the association, should keep the accounts and attend personally to every department of the work, and to the marketing of the product. He would need, of course, to employ some assistance, but if the establishment were properly arranged, at least three-quarters of the work required to make butter from the same milk in ten different farm-houses, would be saved; and as every thing would conduce to uniformity of quality, a special market could easily be made for the butter, which should be prepared for sale in an attractive form, and so as to secure its arrival in good condition at any season of the year.

It would not be possible, within the scope of a single article, to give detailed directions for the construction and the management of such a dairy, but it should be the first object of the association, before spending a dollar in building, to learn exactly how everything should be done. The feasibility of the plan will be clearer if we say that ordinary milk-pans need not be used, but that the milk, after being properly cooled in summer or warmed in winter, should be set in vats large enough to hold the whole morning or evening milking of the hundred cows, and that there should be sufficient hot-water apparatus for thoroughly scalding all of the bulky utensils that would be necessary.

The manner in which the details of the business should be arranged, so that even justice should be done to all, may vary somewhat under different circumstances, but the following plan has suggested itself to us as practicable:

The partners forming the association should each agree, for a certain number of years, to keep at least a given number of cows, unless released from his obligation by common consent. The association should agree to take at least a certain number of pounds of milk a day from each; but there should be a limit to the amount it should be obliged to take in excess of this. This would insure sufficient business for the profitable employment of the establishment, and would prevent its capacity from being overworked. Each farmer should be credited for all the milk delivered at the works; but the superintendent should have suitable means for testing the quality, in case a suspicion of "watering" were raised. After the milk is received at the factory and duly credited, the farmer's control of it should cease. Arrangements should be made for the delivery of the butter to dealers at stated intervals. Near to large markets, it might be sent daily, and only slightly salted, there being, especially in New York, a good demand for such butter at high prices. Where the butter must be packed for long shipments, each day's churning should be packed by itself, and a variety of tubs should be in readiness to hold, as nearly as possible, the amount made each day. With the right sort of a superintendent, we have no doubt that an advance of fully thirty per cent over the prices now received by any ten farmers living in the same neighborhood, might easily be obtained; and this alone, if there were no other consideration, would be sufficient to justify the undertaking. There should be a sufficient stock of swine to consume the skimmed milk of the establishment, unless it were found best to make this into cheese. If swine are kept in any numbers, it would be well to select some pure breed, establish a reputation, and let the chief business be the selling of young thorough-bred pigs for breeding purposes. In closing the year's business, interest should be paid to the stock holders on the amount of their investments, as a part of the running expenses; and necessary repairs and refitting should be paid for from the same account. All moneys remaining over should be divided among the members of the association, in proportion to the amount of milk furnished by them. As farmers, with whom butter making is an important item, often cannot wait until the end of the year for their returns, it would be wise, after reserving a safe margin to cover interest, running expenses, and contingencies, to divide the balance at the end of each month.

In the plan sketched above, we have vindicated a means by which farmers may secure to themselves a better return from their cows than they would have under ordinary circumstances, and may, at the same time, get rid of the dreaded middlemen, and sell direct to retailers or to consumers. There is one private dairy in Pennsylvania (in which the butter is made by a man,) of which the product is distributed by express, every week, to all parts of the country, from Washington to Boston, the price received being from 85c. to $1, according to the season, free of all cost of transportation. If an association making butter from the milk of one hundred cows could achieve such a reputation as this private dairy has, private customers of the best class would eagerly offer themselves to take the whole product at fully twice the wholesale price ordinarily paid; say, for instance, 75 cents instead of 37½ cents. With cows making only 150 pounds of butter per annum, the yearly difference for a dairy of the size in question would be $3,625, without counting the more profitable use of the skimmed milk.

Hearth and Home.

Fowls.

It is pretty generally conceded that no one is successful who attempts to keep together a large number of fowls, and those who keep the smallest number together generally obtain the greatest proportionate number of eggs. And this is, we think, not only true, but easily to be accounted for.

Every one who has kept fowls knows that they are very uncleanly birds. They even wash themselves in the dirt, and that evidently not for the purpose of cleanliness, but to rid themselves of vermin. They prefer clean light sand, because if in the sun it is generally warmer, and it is easily moved, but they seem equally to enjoy any soft dry earth, although it may not be very sweet and clean. They are notoriously filthy in their coops, roosting under each other, taking no pains to avoid the droppings, soiling their food, water and nests with their droppings, and doing no act apparently towards cleanliness. This is more manifest in the house where they are confined, and where the air should be as pure as possible. If they are at large and few in number, they move around so much that they cannot sour the ground. They are by nature clean, but by habit the reverse, and the only way to keep them in the natural state, is to give them range enough, so that they cannot soil their haunts, or else cleanse carefully and faithfully every day.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

Sold by H. H. MITCHELL, Elkton, and all Druggists and dealers everywhere. [Nov 19, 1870—y

WHAT ARE THEY?

For Female Complaints, in connection with the Diseases of the Kidneys, this Bitters has no equal.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout; Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They Invigorate the stomach, and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Copious Discharges of Urine, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms which are the offsprings of Dyspepsia, are cured by these Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.
