THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

While it is true that the Legislature has not accomplished a great deal in the way of general legislation, partly because of time consumed by local interests and measures, yet it has shown such a disposition to avoid sins of commission, that, in spite of the overwhelming Democrat'c ma jority at Annapolis, our lawmakers are eliciting a reluctant commendation from Republicans and even those non descripts who, for lack of a better appellation, are termed "independents." But it is amusing to observe how these endeavor, in making their conces sions, to avoid anything like an admis sion of ultimate good motives. Cold undeniable and universally patent facts force them to concede that there could not be less suspicion of immediately improper metives, job bery or undue lobby influence, in con nection with the ideal legislative body than can be detected by the most sensitive olfactories in the atmosphere of the present General Assembly.

The hysterical element, to whose fevcred vision Senator Gorman appears in everything from an eclipse of the moon to the presence of an influenza bacillus, with woe-begone expression declare that that wicked man Gorman, with pedagogical authority, has told the the legislative school-boys to be good, that gone indeed the shriekers fear will be their congenial occupation of lature against the Gorman Presidential boom which is now looming up to freeze their very blood.

There are those on the other hand who wag their heads ominously, and will not accept it that any good can come out of a Democratic Nazarethand still sav, "Wait awhile and see what horrible schemes of iniquity this perverse generation of viperous Democrats will hatch."

Coming right down to the truth of the whole matter, however, it is rarely that Maryland has had, so far as we can judge at present, a body of legislators more fally imbued with a general desire to carefully and conscientiously do that which may be in the best interests of the commonwealth. Overwhelming majorities have in some instances their disadvantages, and there were those among Democrats who entertained misgivings that the practical exclusion by the popular voice at the last State election of Republicans from the State's law-making assembly, might be productive of heedlessness in the absence of a wellhandled minority opposition, It must be gratifying to every Democrat to note a prevalent disposition among our Solons down by the Severn to so deport themselves that right-thinking men of Democratic principles can not be driven to the conclusion that there is such a thing as too much Democracy.

The present Legislature is a business body. It goes right ahead with its work without waste of time. There has not been much of oratorical pyrotechnics, which is sometimes coincident with obstruction of business, but there is plenty of latent oratory in either house ready whenever occasion may require it.

Whatever general legislation of importance is demanded requires careful preliminary work in committee and therefore comes along in the latter half of the session. In the meantime, advantage is taken of the opportunities given to get through with whatever local legislation is demanded for various communities. It is true that local matters do interfere with those of general importance in the busy last days of each session, and this condition has really at times amounted to an evil which has occupied the attention of able minds seeking its correction. It is indeed a pity that the General Assembly can not either be relieved of the weight of of limited legislative authority to boards of county commissioners, or that more sion can not be given the General Assembly for finishing up its work.

But while the legislature as a whole must wait on the committees, and while the best laid plans can not prevent sometimes unfortunate delays, our lawmakers appear to be making the best of who saw my crop pronounced it the conditions as they find them, and doing finest field of peas in the county. I con-for making or marring the reputations of individuals or the good name of the entire Legislative body, but we feel warranted in the belief that the Legislature of 1892 will pass into history with the good report that the present seems to fore shadow.

We fail to see how party lines can be drawn either in the fifty-second Congress or in the country at large on the silver question. The Democrats in the House of Representatives are divided on silver. The Republicans in the Senate are ditto. The microscopic President pulls his mammoth hat fur ther down about him and trembles in anticipation of having to act upon a silver bill should it pass both houses by the votes of combined silver Republicans and Democrats.

It looks as if the platform of each party will leave the money question open. Well, we all want a sound currency. No one can deny the proposition. What is a sound currency is the question vexing alike the Democratic and the Republican mind. Sentiment has yet to crystalize on the financial question, and there is no use for Democrats and Republicans to fight along this line until they have determined what the

The bill granting equitable relief to the bondsmen of the late treasurer, Sterenson Archer, passed the House of Delegates Tuesday by a vote of 66 to 10. This is practical unanimity. the views of editors of some of the ablest journals in the State: 1. S. Wilson, The Gazette, Upper Mariboro .- "Not only State pride makes Senator Arthur P. Gorman our first choice for President, but the fact that through his matchless courage and firmness, a Democratic President was made possible eight years ago and a repetition ination by the Chicago convention will make the preface to the opening chapter of a book bearing the title, "From Page to President." It will tell the story of the life of a man born to be a leader among men, and of a statesman and political strategist of whom any State

"There is a parallel case presented in the country now. The deliverer from the Force bill of the Forty-third Congress won the everlasting gratitude and affection of his countrymen, at least the liberty-loving part of them. Does not the deliverer from the more obnoxious Force bill of the Fifty first Congress deserve equal, if not greater honor? In his record upon every national issue he s the peer of anyone named in connection with the Presidential nomination, while his services in defeating the Republican effort to override the sacred privileges of freemen makes claim far superior to that of any living Democrat. Felix Agnus, publisher of the Baltimore American made the following prediction to a reporter of the Baltimore News, a few days ago, as to the outcome of the factional fight in New York's Democratic circles, which is of interest to the friends of Senator Gorman. He said: "You probably do not remember the famous Ten Breck-Ochiltree Parole match at Pimlico a number of years ago. It was, perhaps, the greatest race ever run there and excited untold interest. It drew the largest crowd ever seen at the track. "Now, this fight between Hill and Cleveland reminds me very much of that race, and I will tell you in what way. There was Ten Breck holding the record, and with every chance of winning. But a combination was made to beat him. Ochiltree was to be 'killed' in order to set the pace at the beginning of the race, and then, when the favorite was beaten, Parole was to be brought up and take the race. Well, it turned out just in that way. Ten Brocck and Och iltree started at a killing pace, and Parole looked to be a poor third. Indeed, he was hardly thought of in the race. "But soon the two leaders were seen o be played out. The pace was too heavy for them, and the people saw Pa role slowly creeping up and finally winning the race with cease. Hill and Cleveland will kill each other just that way. The pace will be too hot for them said in Washington: "Cannot Gorman at the beginning, and they will soon When the time for the convention comes i

> GENERAL NEWS NOTES, John L. Sullivan has issued a formal challenge for a fight to a finish, Queensbury rules, to Mitcheil, Slavin or Corbett. He says that his first choice is Slavin, as he has done the greatest amount of blowing. He puts Mitchell second, because, as he says, he would rather whip him than any other man in the world. Sullivan says it is not so much a desire on his part to bear the title of champion, as to whip any foreigner who comes to this country, that actuates him. He desires to fight in August or the first week of September this year at the Olympic Club, New Orleans, for a purse of $25,000 and an outside bet of $10,000. Sullivan says "The Marquis of Queensbury's rules must govern this contest, as I want fighting and not foot-racing, and I intend to keep the championship of the world where it belongs-in the land of the free and home of the brave." Mitchell says he will accept the challenge, and the
