ATTENTION DEMOCRATS. The Howard County Conservative voters of Howard county are requested to meet in their respective Election Districts on Saturday, June 4, 1892, between the hours of 4 and 6 P. M. to select Delegates to attend a County Convention to be held at Elllicott City on Tuesday, June 7th, 1892, at 11 A. M. for the purpose of selecting three Delegates to attend the State Convention to be held in Baltimore City on Wednesday, June 8, 1892, to select Delegates to the National Democratic Convention to be held at Chicago, Ill., Tuesday, June 21, 1892, and for the nomination of Presidential Electors for the State of Maryland—and also for the said County Convention to select three Delegates to the Congressional Convention to be held at Laurel, on Wednesday, August 24, 1892, to nominate a Candidate for Congress from the Fifth Congressional District.

THOMAS H. HUNT, JOHN S. TRACY, ROBERT A. DORRIS. Members Democratic State Central Committee for Howard county.

UNINSTRUCTED DELEGATIONS. Maryland primary elections in Presidential years have not as a rule elicited the interest attaching to those preceding local contests. This is partly due to the fact that this State's interest has always been general. With no favorite son in the Presidential race and adhering to the political philosophy contained in the phrase, "Principles not men," whomsoever the national Democracy, in its wisdom, has put at the head of the ticket, has been good enough for Maryland.

This has ever been especially true of Howard county, and the only concern here has been that delegates of however high or low degree should act without let or hindrance, as becomes members of deliberative bodies, for the best general interests, with full knowledge of all facts and circumstances. For this reason it has not been customary in Howard to send instructed delegations to county, Congressional or State conventions.

This is especially fortunate, as it renders the people vigilant to send only representative men to such conventions, men who can be trusted to intelligently consider the needs and welfare of those whom they represent, and who at the same time are in a position to know the sentiments of their constituencies.

As the primaries in various counties of Maryland approach we observe that the Democratic press of the State is practically unanimous in the demand for uninstructed delegations. It might be urged that with Senator Gorman as a Presidential possibility, it would become his State in the present instance to show its loyalty to him by taking steps toward sending a delegation to Chicago pledged to him.

But even the force of this argument hardly admits of departure from the beaten path. In the first place Senator Gorman is not of his own motion a Presidential aspirant. He has never availed his candidacy nor will he do so now. It may be that complications in other States will turn the eyes of the Union upon him as the only available leader in the great battle of next fall.

But if nominated it will be at the instance of the other States, and not by virtue of Maryland's having gone into the convention clamoring for recognition. Maryland should, however, be unfettered and in a position to show her loyalty to herself in the presence of unforeseen conditions which may arise, and if the Union wants Gorman our State must be in a position to give him no half-hearted support.

She can stand ready to do this with no disloyalty to Mr. Cleveland or any other of the great Democratic chieftains who occupy at present so much of the public eye. The strong Cleveland sentiment in Maryland may be depended upon to work no injustice to the great man whom patriotism defeated in 1888. And with an unpledged Maryland delegation, justice to him and Democratic principles will not entail on the other hand disloyalty to Maryland's claims should it appear that the nomination is to go elsewhere with no New York.

The evidences multiply that there will be nothing out and dried about the Chicago convention, but that it will be deliberative and even judicial. In such an assemblage, therefore, self-respecting men and freemen will desire immunity from undue and ill-advised trammeling. Howard county must do its part in the primaries on Saturday next in adhering to the customs of the past. We want no instructed delegations.

The vast facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co., of Lowell, Mass., enable them to place the superior blood-purifier—Ayer's Sarsaparilla—within easy reach of the poorest invalid. Don't be induced to take a cheap imitation. Always remember that the best is the cheapest. A cheap line of straw hats at Thos. C. Bateman's, Sykesville.

THE TIMES is in hearty sympathy with the movement to establish a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association in Elllicott City. The good done by this non-sectarian organization throughout the country is inestimable. It offers inducements to young men to improve themselves mentally, morally and physically. We trust that the movement here will be encouraged. Handsome quarters with a comfortable reading room and commodious gymnasium would be a great addition to the town. Once under way the organization is sure of support.

We are glad to see our old friend, the Baltimore Sun, in new and improved style. In eight-column, eight-page form it is an ideal newspaper. Everything about it is more metropolitan and indicates the rapid advance of Baltimore. After fifty-five years of successful competition the Sun continues in the journalistic van.

NEWS FROM ABROAD. Edward Parker Deacon, of Boston, Mass., was tried at New France, last week for the killing of M. Abellie, whose attentions to Mrs. Deacon caused a separation between Mr. and Mrs. Deacon. The court sentenced Mr. Deacon to one year's imprisonment.

The leading Tory organs in England are dissatisfied with Lord Salisbury's policy in doing a protective tariff, and declare he has done no good either to himself or his party.

The opposition to President Harrison seems to be again centering on Mr. Blaine, and it begins to look as if the Secretary would have to write another letter to the effect that he was not the Republican Presidential nomination.

Congressman Holman says the pension roll in a few years will amount to fully $200,000,000. As a consequence he predicts that it will soon be necessary to levy an income tax to meet the expense of the government.

Mr. Gorman's Silence Prevents a Stampede to Him. It is reported that Chief Justice Fuller will be Mr. Cleveland's political residuary legate. The most significant declaration recently made by any man who will be in a position to wield influence in the Chicago convention comes from Speaker Crafts of the Illinois Legislature.

Mr. Crafts has been discussing the situation with prominent Illinois senators and has been advised to be a man of shrewd political perception, and his attitude has undoubtedly strengthened the Gorman boom. The Baltimore Morning News states that Speaker Crafts is a man who means business in turning to the Maryland Senator as the man who can harmonize all factional differences.

The Man from Maryland Becoming More and More an Interesting Figure—Col. Hagerman's Position on the Political Field—What the State Conventions Have Been Doing.

Mr. James R. Brewer, late editor of the Baltimore News, has taken another survey of the political field and tersely gives the following opinion as his conclusion in regard to the Democratic nomination:

"1. If a Maryland man can be favored with the Presidential nomination, he should be our choice above every other aspirant. Patriotism begins at home."

"2. While Mr. Cleveland is the most popular man in the Democratic party, he is not the strongest man in the country; he is antagonized by a minority party, and is not a strong enough man to defeat him, and embittered enough to do it."

"3. As between Cleveland and Hill in the Democratic party, the former is the stronger within the party by odds of three to one. But that one out of three is sufficient to lose the State to the Democratic nominee. Hence, the nomination of either Cleveland or Hill would be political suicide."

"4. The Maryland senator would carry every Democratic State by an immense majority, and the enthusiasm his nomination would inspire among the active and alert political elements would be sufficient to carry the State to the Democratic nominee."

"5. His nomination would stimulate a party organization and energy never witnessed before in this country, and would ensure success."

"6. Democratic success this fall is vitally necessary. Defeat will be a national calamity. Hence, the party should make sure of a Democratic majority, a magnetic candidate, an unparalleled organization, and take no chance whatever of defeat. Principles amount to nothing, unless success furnishes opportunity to apply them."

"These reasons," continues Mr. Brewer, "I deem sufficient to convince the staunchest Cleveland man of the utility of a vote for Mr. Cleveland. For it is evident to every cool observer that, even if Mr. Cleveland is the preference of the Democratic party, the other third—composed of anti civil service reformers and free-choice Democrats—will be sufficient to defeat him."
