COMPTON THE MAN.

RENOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION AT LAUREL WEDNESDAY.

A Harmonious Gathering. More Like a Meeting of Neighbors Than a Formal Convention—Mr. Compton Feels Constrained to Accept and Makes a Ringing Speech.

Hon. Barnes Compton was nominated for Congress at Laurel Wednesday by acclamation. Mr. Compton had expressed previously his unwillingness to be again a candidate, but the counties of the fifth Congressional district would not take a refusal from him. It was a spontaneous tribute to an able and worthy representative, and Mr. Compton could only submit to the will of his fellow citizens as being paramount to his.

Mr. Oscar G. Hayden, of St. Mary's county, was selected as temporary chairman, and Mr. W. E. Linn, of Howard, as secretary. These officers were made permanent, and Joseph H. Toomey, of Howard, N. C. Darnall, of Prince George's, J. C. Carpenter, of Charles, R. L. McCuen, of seventeenth ward of Baltimore city, Dr. J. C. Monmonier, of Baltimore county, J. T. Parran, of Calvert, Thomas H. Parsons, of St. Mary's and Isaac Mutwell, of Calvert, were elected vice-presidents. While resolutions were being prepared, ex-Senator Peter, of Howard addressed the convention. Among other things he said

"There may have been many honest anti-Cleveland Democrats before the Chicago convention met, but there is no such thing as an anti-Cleveland Democrat in Maryland today. There is a spirit of unrest, a sense of hardship and of trouble throughout the country. To afford the people the relief they want we must control the legislative as well as the administrative departments of the government, otherwise we will not be responsible for the legislation enacted. With the control of both branches we will be willing to be held responsible for everything done. We mean to stand by every line, word and letter of the Chicago platform, and we intend to hold Ben. Harrison and 'Outlaw' Reid to every letter of the Minneapolis platform." Mr. Peter then proceeded to eulogize Mr. Compton.

Speaking of the several gentlemen who had been mentioned for the Congressional nomination in complimentary terms, Senator Peter paid a graceful tribute to his fellow-countyman Senator John G. Rogers, adding that were Mr. Rogers nominated no one would work more earnestly to elect him than himself.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows:

"We indorse most heartily the platform of principles promulgated by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago.

"We recognize the doctrines and purposes of the republican party as dangerous to the liberties of our people, and as American citizens, jealous of our rights and alive to our interests, we look to the success of the Democratic party as our last and best hope.

"We hereby express our earnest and determined purpose to leave no effort untried to secure a Democratic victory in this district."

Nominations were then in order, and State Senator Robert Moss, of Anne Arundel, put Mr. Compton's name before the body in a complimentary speech. The nomination was seconded by Dr Monmonier, of Baltimore county, and was made unanimous. A committee was appointed to notify Mr. Compton of his nomination. While the committee was out Mr. J. E. Hill, of THE TIMES, was called for and made a brief speech.

Mr. Compton's appearance in the hall was the signal for an ovation. He made one of his characteristic speeches, saying in part:

"Your committee has informed me of your action. The will of my party fairly expressed through its legitimate channels is the law of my political life. [Applause.] I meant exactly what I said when I said that I did not think that in my crippled condition I was able to make the canvass. Besides, I felt that the party had been wonderfully kind to me. I did not want to stand in the way of any other Democrat's aspirations. [Applause.] But I would be less than a man did I not gratefully accept this honor which you have so generously bestowed upon me. I am yours till election day, to do everything in my power to lead the party in this district to success. [Applause.] And I feel assured that already victory is ours. [Applause.]

"I have heard men say that there is no difference between the parties. They will find that they are mistaken. The difference is as great as between light and darkness. The Republican party proposes to destroy home rule, to subvert the constitution. They want the whole of the election machinery of the nation in the hands of a few partisans. Do you tell me that a party like that is like the party of Jefferson, which believes in upholding the liberties of the many in preference to the enriching of the few? Don't let it be said that there is no difference between the two parties. There is hardly an individual in the land who does not feel the oppressive and damning influence of legislation in the interest of the corporations as against the prosperity of the masses. [Applause.] Taxation is a necessity, and the tariff is the way to raise money needed to carry on the government economically. The Republican tariff is claimed to be in the interest of the laboring men. Yet in 14 months 416 factories have been closed and 200,000 laboring men thrown out of work owing to the Republican tariff. Look at the troubles in Western Pennsylvania. Yet McKinley says that his law increased wages. The idea of a man making such a declaration to people who read the newspapers. All through the land you find discontent, followed by disorder, as it always is.

"I defy any Republican to show one single line in the McKinley law in the in the interest of the farmer. [Applause.] The Republicans say their tariff gives the farmer a home market. What good is such a market when factory hands are walking the streets, unable to buy the farmer's produce? Give the American mechanic, the American agriculturist, the American capitalist a free field and a fair fight and he can win against the whole world.

"I thank you sincerely for making me your candidate I only promise, if elected, to do the best I can for the interests of my people. There is no doubt of my election if the Democrats turn out. That is the only thing we must look to. Every Democrat must put his shoulder to the wheel. It is for the active Democrats to do the effective work. Organization is the life of a party. Organize in your districts. See that those entitled to register are on the books, and, especially, see that no one is on the books who is not entitled to be there. Then on election day see that all Democrats who are entitled to vote are brought to the polls. The Republicans have a federal law giving them the right to appoint federal supervisors in every district. The great thing is the secrecy of the ballot. No federal law gives any officer the right to look at a man's ballot. The same law allows the appointment of deputy marshals in cities of over 20,000 population. There is nothing in the law permitting the appointment of deputy marshals anywhere else. Don't be intimidated. [Applause.] The Democratic party will see that your rights shall be respected. [Applause.] I promise you that as far as I am able I will be with you until election day. But don't forget that the victory is with you and not with me. God grant that you make it an overwhelming triumph. [Applause.] I hate deceit and love candor, and I would not be honest if I did not again assure you of my sincere gratitude for this nomination. [Cheers.]

The presence of a brass band lent much enthusiasm to the occasion.

THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

It is authoritatively stated that the school commissioners of Washington county will take no cognizance of the old board, but will assume the duties of their office as the legal appointees of the Governor. They further expect to be recognized by the State and county officials, and to thus hold the purse-strings of the school fund. They have notified the banks not to pay over any funds deposited to the account of the school board. Whatever legal steps, therefore, will be taken in the matter will have to be inaugurated by the old board. This was the course pursued in Howard county, where the old examiner refused to surrender.

SUICIDE IN HOWARD.

JOSEPH T. WARFIELD FOUND WELTERING IN HIS BLOOD.

His Throat Horribly Gashed With a Case Knife—The Jugular and Windpipe Severed—He Dies in a Few Hours—The Local News Field.

Joseph T. Warfield, aged forty-nine years and unmarried, was found between 6 and 7 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the porch of his father's house, near Cooksville, Howard county, with his throat cut. He was lying in a pool of blood and was unable to articulate. He died at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. The wound had been inflicted but a short time before Warfield was discovered. He was gashed in soveral places in the neck and his windpipe was severed. He indicated before death that his injuries were self-inflicted. A dull case knife was the instrument used.

His father is Seth H. Warfield. His dwelling is on the Baltimore and Frederick turnpike, eleven miles west of Ellicott City, and was formerly known as the old Spring Tavern. A porch extends the whole length of the front. One end of the building is used by Seth H. Warfield, Jr., a brother of the dead man, as a store. The other end of the building is occupied as a dwelling. Both store and dwelling open on the porch. It was on this porch that the horrible discovery recounted was made.

No cause is assigned for the act other than melancholy, which has been noted for a long time. It is stated that twenty years ago he narrowly escaped death as the result of hanging by a rope which had been placed about his neck and fastened at the other end to a beam in an out house. The reports rife at that time were that a love affair had caused despondency and led to the occurrance. Several years ago he inherited property from an uncle, Mr. Lorenzo Warfield, who, for many years, had kept a tavern on the Triadelphia turnpike, near Glenelg, Howard county, but, it is said, the legatee was unfortunate in the handing of his legacy. For some time his home has been with his father, who is an aged and respected citizen. There are a great many who had for a oonsiderable period not regarded the injured man as mentally sound. He had always, however, been possessed of a well-meaning disposition.

Dr. J. W. Hebb, who was summoned as soon as Warfield was discovered and sewed up the wounds, states that in addition to the windpipe, the right jugular was severed. The several wounds made were rough and jagged and this fact prevented the usual rapidity with which blood flows from a severed jugular. The man had made several attempts before he succeeded in fatally wounding himself. He stated in an almost inarticulate way that after his first attempt he sharpened the knife, and it appeared that still being unable to cut cleanly with the edge, drove the point into the side of his neck thus opening the way for the fatal wound. He seemed to be under the hallucination that murderers were pursuing him. Shortly before death the dying man seemed perfectly rational and prayed fervently. He died from shock and exhaustion.

A SON OF HOWARD'S SUCCESS.

The Ladder's Top Round Reached in a Quarter Century.

A son of Howard county, who has carved out fame and fortune in the great metropolis, is Mr. William D. Mackey, a leading coffee broker of New York City. He is a son of the late Dr. Alexander L. Mackey, of Howard county, and was born on the estate now the home of Judge Reuben Dorsey, near Oakland Mills. His mother was Judge Dorsey's sister. Mr. Mackey began life's real struggle as a lad of seventeen when he went to Baltimore, after having received the elements of an academic education at the Maryland Military Institute near Catonsville.

For a while he clerked in a grocery and mastered the details of the business; next he became connected with E. C. Small & Co., the brokers of Exchange Place, but after a time went to New York where his experience and talents won him early recognition and made him a partner of the firm, Small Bros. & Co., coffee brokers. Before the firm went out of business Mr. Mackey was senior partner, and after that event was successively member of the firm of Arnold Mackey & Co., and senior partner of Mackey & Small, which firm today is known in the leading cities of the United States and many of Europe, and stands upon a solid financial basis.

Mr. Mackey is still the firm's head and front and a recognized authority in the coffee trade of New York. He has hardly reached the prime of life being scarcely more than forty years of age. Those who recollect Mr. Mackey as a boy would hardly recognize in the tall, well built and handsome New Yorker of today the bright Howard county lad of twenty-five years ago.

In spite of his extensive business enterprises he finds time to indulge a lively interest in the welfare of a number of social and commercial organizations and is a popular member of the Manhattan and Down Town clubs of New York.

Mr. Mackey married a Miss Shaw, of St. Mary's county. His large and interesting family are now at one of the Virginia resorts. A sister of Mr. Mackey is the wife of Charles F. Meany, the brilliant journalist, well-known in Eastern newspaper circles and now on the staff of the New York World. A brother Mr. John Worthington Dorsey Mackey is a resident of Brooklyn.

MR. AND MRS. MEANY'S VISIT.

A Pleasant Time Spent Amid Familiar Scenes in Howard.

Mr. Charles F. Meany, of the New York World, who, in company with his wife, has been visiting Mrs. Meany's relatives, Judge and Mrs. Reuben Dorsey, Mrs. Clara Hammond, and others in Howard county, has returned home. Mr. Meany, while here, was impressed with the fact that Howard county hospitality has waned in no wise since he last looked upon the picturesqueness of this section a number of years ago, and he returns to the metropolis with the attachment which he has always cherished for Howard county, greatly strengthened. Like all visitors, who have been thrown much in other parts of the country, Mr. Meany recognizes in the natural beauty of Howard and environs that which is rarely excelled even in farther famed sections.

Mr. Meany received, during his stay in Maryland, much attention from his old newspaper colleagues in Baltimore, where he began his career as a journalist and where he was at one time city editor of the old Baltimore Gazette. Mr. Meany's eldest son, Dorsey Meany, has followed in his father's footsteps and adopted the newspaper profession. He is now on the staff of the New York Herald.

Our mill has been running to its fullest capacity all the summer, for which favor I think we are greatly indebted to your valuable paper THE TIMES.

This he kicked over on the track of the railroad and walked off. ## A LAWYER'S SHREWD GAME

Saves a Young Physician From Getting Into Jail.

"There's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip," and Constable John P. Carter, of Carroll county, discovered the fact Monday says the Baltimore World when he attempted to take Dr. Chas. F. Mohr, a young physician, to Westminster on charge of false pretenses. Mohr had been practicing medicine near Westminster and purchased a set of harness on credit from Nicholas M. Steele. Mohr afterward moved to Baltimore and Steele swore out a warrant for his arrest on the charge of obtaining the harness under false pretenses.

Detective Pumphrey arrested Mohr and he was locked up until Constable Carter came for him. A preliminary hearing in the case was had before Justice Hobbs, and Lawyer Millard F. Taylor argued for the defense and asked that his client be set free, as he had simply contracted a debt for the harness and there was no false pretense about the case. Justice Hobbs, didn't see the case that way and was about to turn Mohr over to Constable Carter; when Lawyer Taylor asked for a temporary stay of proceedings while he went to his office and looked up the law on the subject.

A stay of 15 minutes was granted, but instead of going to his office, the shrewd attorney made a bee line for the City Circuit Court and sued out a writ of habeas corpus. When he went back to the Central station, he found the constable all ready to take Mohr away, but he knocked the official out in one round with the habeas corpus papers. Mohr was released on $300 bail pending a hearing of the case next Wednesday. Constable Carter journeyed back to Westminster alone.

Movements of Senater Gorman.

Senator Gorman and family are at Saratoga. The Senator will remain in New York for some time in frequent communication and constant co-operation with his colleagues in the management of the Democratic national campaign. The Senator has been suffering again from neuralgia. The hard work of the past year, he said last week to an interviewer, was telling on him, and he knew he needed a change. Saratoga had always agreed with him, and he hoped he would have his former experience there. On the political situation he said things were moving along quietly and comfortably in the work of organization and preparation that was all that both sides could expect at this stage of the canvass.

Senator Gorman is reported as having told an anecdote on himself to a newspaper man in New York. He was walking through the corridor of the Fifth Avenue Hotel a few mornings since when a correspondent accosted him. In the course of the conversation the Senator said: "I'll tell you an anecdote. Down in Southern Maryland there is a young man who is interested in my welfare. He has been keeping two sets of scrap books. In one he would place all the notices that were favorable to me, and in the other he would paste those that roasted me. The other day he came over to the house and said: 'I want another book.'

"'For which kind of notices?' I asked him.

"'For the unfavorable ones,' he said. 'The other book isn't half full yet.'

"Then I determined to stop keeping scrap books."

Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Entertain.

HOOD'S MILL, August 25.—One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the lawn party at the residence of Mr A. P. Forsythe, on Friday, August 19th, in honor of Miss Brian, of Baltimore, who has been spending some time with the Misses Forsythe. The lawn was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and the spacious platform erected for the purpose of dancing was filled to overflowing with the friends of the young ladies. Dancing began early and with the exception of an hour at midnight, when the delicacies of the season were served in abundance, kept up until the early morning hours, for all seemed loth to leave such a pleasant host and hostess. Prof. Iula's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

Among those present were Misses Brian, Fulwood and Burgess, of Baltimore, Md.; Miss Sharp, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Urner, of Mt. Airy; Missss Mathews, of Kingsdene; Linthicum and Hammond, of Glenwood; Miss Fusting, of Catonsville; Misses Delashmutt and Hood, of Lisbon; Messrs. Items from Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, August 18.—The Cleveland and Stevenson club held its second meeting Tuesday evening in Parlett's Hall. Several new members were proposed and many more have expressed a desire to join. The hall will be furnished nicely by the club and a Cleveland and Stevenson banner will soon be flung to the breeze. The feasibility of giving a mammoth Democratic picnic early in September will be discussed at the next meeting. Eminent speakers will be invited to address the club at stated intervals and all are invited to hear Democratic principles expounded.

Mr. Frank Parlett has succeeded in putting the Woodstock road, on the Howard county side, in splendid condition. The sentiment here is that the supervisor of the Baltimore county side should follow this good example set and repair the miserable road leading to Woodstock. It is not fit for pedestrians much less for wagons and carriages. Taxpayers should send a protest to the county commissioners and ascertain why bad roads are not repaired. They are dangerous to life and limb, an eyesore to the community and a disgrace to the county.

Facts From Fulton.

FULTON, August 25.—The protracted drouth in this locality was broken on Sunday morning last by a miniature cloudburst. The rain fell in torrents for the space of five minutes. At the head of Hammond's branch the fields were submerged and resembled lakes. Some damage to corn is reported, but otherwise the rain was a decided benefit. The cloud was of small dimensions but the amount of water that fell was equal in quantity to that of a protracted storm.

The tournament which is to take place at Scaggs' Cross Roads on next Tuesday, August 30th, will be one of the most entertaining affairs of the season. Both professionals and amateurs are expected to contest for prizes and some excellent skill will be exhibited. Various forms of amusement have been provided.

Dysentery has become epidemic in this vicinity among adults and children, and the cases of illness are numerous.

Dr. W. Cissel has removed to his handsome residence near Highland. The doctor has practiced his profession for several years and in that time has become quite popular.

A Tournament in Carroll.

A Westminster dispatch to the Baltimore Sun, dated August 19, says: "A largely-attended tournament and picnic was held Thursday in Berret's Woods, near Freedom. Carroll, Howard and Baltimore counties were represented by a large number of young people, with their chaperones, while the politicians of all three counties were there in full force. The charge to the knights was made by Mr. Guy Steele, of Freedom. The successful knights were: Mr. John M. Dorsey, who crowned Miss Nellie Warfield, of Howard county, queen of love and beauty; Mr. Guy Steele, of Freedom, who crowned Miss Gordon-Cumming, first maid of honor; Mr. Archie Dorsey, who crowned Miss Marie Bond, of St. Louis, Mo., second maid of honor, and Mr. H. Warfield, who crowned Miss E. Smith, of Baltimore, third maid of honor.

A pleasant lawn party was given by the Alberton Evangelical Church Saturday evening last. Refreshments, ice cream and aerated mineral waters were in abundance. Every body enjoyed the party. Alberton's fair ladies graced the scene with their presence, and added another charm to the then gay gathering. The affair was also a financial success.

Gleanings from Glenelg.

GLENELG, August 25.—The annual picnic of the Westwood M. E. Sunday School was held on Saturday last and was quite a success. The occasion was enlivened by a game of ball between the Glenelg and Clarkson clubs, resulting in the defeat of the latter.

The Westwood Church has just undergone a thorough remodeling and looks like a new church.

The community around were grieved to learn of the death on the 19th, of Miss Willie Owings, daughter of Mr. L. I. Gillis Owings. She was a young lady well-known and very highly esteemed in this neighborhood. Her funeral on Sunday was attended by a great many friends and acquaintances of the family.

Howard County Canning Industries.

The large crops of vegetables in the lower sections of Howard county and in Anne Arundel have tended to give renewed impetus to the canning business thereabouts. The factories of Messrs. William M. Gardner & Sons and Messrs. Charles G. Summers & Co., at Jessups, have made extra arrangements for the receipt of canning products, and a brisk trade is now being done by these establishments. The inauguration of this branch of industry has induced the farmers in that vicinity to divert their attention almost entirely from the raising of the cereals, and apply themselves instead to the cultivation of vegetables and fruits.

Fined for Profanity.

Charles H. Dorsey and Charles Jackson, both colored, while returning on a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train from Irving Park Sunday night, raised a disturbance on the train by walking up and down the aisles of the cars cursing in the most approved style. The conductor could do nothing with them, but Sergeant Bowen arrested them as soon as they reached Camden Station. Monday Justice Canton fined Dorsey $20 and Jackson $10 for the use of their tongues.

The body of Ridgely Smallwood was found mangled Tuesday alongside the Baltimore and Ohio tracks near Elk Ridge. How he was killed is not known but it is supposed he was run down by a freight train while walking along the track. Coroner Wyatt, of Howard county, declined to hold an inquest, believing that death was the result of an accident.

OVER IN BALTIMORE COUNTY.

A Big Budget of News from Across the Patapsco.

Martha Conway, colored, aged 21 years, was fatally burned Monday morning in the kitchen of Druggist W. E. Thompson's house, Catonsville, by pouring gasoline into the receiver of a gasoline stove while the burners were ignited. The girl was removed to her home, on Winter's lane, where the physicians did what they could to relieve her. When the accident occurred the flame ran from the burner to the two-quart can in the girl's hand. She ran out of doors and did not relinquish her grip upon the handle of the can until it had burned away from Dr. Thompson and others smothered the flames with carpet. The loss by fire in the house was $75 to the stock of drugs and $250 to the house and furniture.

Mr. Stephen States Lee, died Monday at Mount Herbert, his summer residence, near Catonsville. He was eighty years of age and his death was due to heart trouble. Mr. Lee was born in South Carolina. He was educated as a civil engineer and spent his early manhood North, but later gave up his profession and established himself in Baltimore, identifying himself with the coal and iron interests of Maryland. Mr. Lee was in Europe when the war broke out between France and Prussia and was made honorary secretary of the English National Society for aid for the sick and wounded in war, enjoying the confidence of the officers of both armies. The French republic conferred upon him the decoration of the Legion of Honor, the Prussian government that of the Royal Crown of Prussia, and the Bavarian government that of the Cross of Merit of Bavaria. One of Mr. Lee's sons, J. Fenner Lee, has served with distinction in the diplomatic service of the United States.

The statement in THE TIMES last week as to the late Hon. Anthony Kennedy's will was taken from a Baltimore dispatch which turns out to have been inaccurate. The deceased left all his property to his son, Dr. S. D. Kennedy, and his son-in-law, the Rev. Hall Harrison, in trust, to be divided into two equal moieties. The income of one moiety to be paid to Mary S. Kennedy, wife of S. D. Kennedy, and her children, and the income of the other moiety to be paid to Mrs. Hall Harrison during her life, and after her death without issue to Rev. Hall Harrison during his life, and after his death to Mary S. Kennedy or any surviving child or children. The value of the estate is estimated at $20.000.
